Fitzsimmons Steamrollers Way To Power

5-Year Term As Teamsters President Set

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Frank E. Fitzsimmons rode thundersome Teamsters convention support toward virtually certain election today to a five-year term as chief of the world's biggest and richest labor union.

The soft-spoken, 63-year-old "Fitz" confidently steered past scattered, preliminary opposition in winning himself a $25,000 salary increase to $125,000 a year, a $2 monthly hike in dues for the union's two million members and sole power to direct Teamsters political spending.

Fitzsimmons ignored the jibe of Theodore Daley, his only announced opponent for the union presidency, that the salary hike "is too rich for my blood." He defended the dues increase as vital to pay more than $5 million a year in strike benefits and other services to union members.

"If $125,000 is too rich for your blood, I suggest we need some new blood in this union," shouted at Daley, and most of the 2,100 delegates roared approval of the salary hike.

Fitzsimmons became president automatically June 21 when James R. Hoffa sent his resignation from his federal prison cell at Lewisburg, Pa., where he is serving 13 years for jury tampering and mail fraud.

In Washington, meanwhile, the U.S. Parole Board moved up its reconsideration of Hoffa's parole after more than four years in prison, amid persistent union rumors here that it was part of a deal with the government for Hoffa's giving up all his Teamsters posts.

Daley, 42-year-old secretary-treasurer of Yonkers, N. Y., Local 445 protested giving Fitzsimmons power to determine all union political spending.

Asian Officials, Drugs Linked

U.S. Seeks Ouster By Governments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell says the United States is trying to weed out Southeast Asian officials who are involved in illicit narcotics traffic reaching American servicemen.

Mitchell, testifying Wednesday to a Senate government operations subcommittee, declined to name any of the Asian leaders under suspicion. But he said he would do so in closed session if he could get State Department clearance.

Meanwhile, across the Capitol, Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., told a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee that South Vietnamese Gen. Ngo Dzu, a staunch supporter of President Nguyen Van Thieu, is a "chief trafficker" in narcotics trade.

Dzu's involvement, Steele said, was mentioned in "hard intelligence" provided U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. Steele and Rep. Morgan Murphy, D-Ill., who recently toured Southeast Asia, have estimated 10 to 15 per cent of American troops in South Vietnam were addicted to heroin.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, had asked Mitchell in the Senate hearing whether high civilian and military officials of Laos, Thailand, Burma and South Vietnam are involved in illegal drug traffic.

"The fact of the matter is there has been involvement of government officials in some of these countries," Mitchell said. "We feel we have identified some of them and steps are being taken in some of these countries to eliminate their participation."

At the same hearing, Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard disclosed a broad amnesty program for veterans discharged as undesirable for using drugs.

Democrats Reject Tax Compromise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democrats in the Ohio House today balked at going along with a compromise tax measure worked out by both Republican and Democratic leaders.

It was the latest in a series of setbacks to several alternative tax plans that have come out of the House in the past 10 weeks.

Minority Leader A. G. Lancione, D-30 Bellaire, said Democrats "feel very strongly that since the Republican majority passed a budget they should take equal responsibility for a tax bill."

Lancione said following a one-hour caucus, that any tax bill should be bipartisan—"even if it's called a Lancione-Kurfess bill or a Kurfess-Lancione bill."

Lancione emphasized that the 45 Democrats were fearful Republicans would attempt to label the compromise measure a Democrat bill and blame it on Gov. John Gilligan. "It's not a Gilligan proposal now," said Lancione. "It's a bipartisan proposal."

After a three-hour caucus Wednesday, several Democrats objected to the compromise that called for a one to four per cent state income tax, and a four to eight per cent corporation tax.

The balking Democrats fear the measure would be known as a Democrat tax bill. They would prefer a Republican-written measure.

Rep. Robert E. Netzley, R-7 Laura, leader of a group of GOP dissidents favoring a county-collected tax, said some Democratic rebels have voiced support for his bill.

"Some of our boys will go for anything," Minority A. G. Lancione, D-30 Bellaire, responded. "I've got as many prima donnas as they (the GOP) have."

House Ways and Means Committee, meanwhile, postponed until this afternoon a scheduled meeting where it was hoped the compromise tax bill could be voted out. Chairman E. W. Lampson, R-38 Jefferson, said there was no need for the session until the Democrats get together among themselves.

The compromise package reportedly calls for a graduated, statewide income tax of from one to four per cent on personal income, and from four to eight per cent on corporate earnings.

The governor's original proposal in March asked for a one to eight per cent cut of personal earnings. The two corporate tax programs do not differ greatly.

Agreement in principle to push the tax bill to a floor vote was reached Wednesday by the House's two party leaders — Speaker Charles Kurfess, R-4 Perryburg, and Rep. A. G.

Ohio Loses Bid To Regain $4 Million In Bad Loans

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Ohio lost its bid Wednesday to be repaid $4 million before the assets of the bankrupt Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America are divided among creditors.

Rejecting Ohio's claim that it loaned the money to Four Seasons on the basis of fraudulent information, Chief U.S. District Judge Luther Bohanon said the state will be treated as any other unsecured creditor.

Four Seasons is undergoing reorganization under Chapter 10 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act, Ohio Atty. Gen. William Brown, who argued that the $4 million never rightfully became part of the Four Seasons estate, could not be reached for comment on the ruling.

Bohanon said Ohio officials accepted information given them about Four Seasons, conducted their own independent investigation, and loaned the money to the Oklahoma City-based nursing home corporation.

He said there was no fraud involved by Jack Clark, a founder and former president of the firm, or by other Oklahoma City persons who were connected with the company.

Testifying Wednesday at the final hearing on Ohio's claim were James Eichstadt, Grant Guthrie and Don Dreyfuss, all with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission in Chicago.

Ohio's claim was based on a finding by the Securities and Exchange Commission that false information was involved in the firm's public financial reports and in the company's representation of the loans to the National Credit Office in New York City.

Brown's petition asked the court to bypass normal bankruptcy reorganization procedures and return a $2 million loan made March 9, 1970, and now in default, plus two additional loans of $1 million each which mature in March, 1972.

Mansfield said the administration has played up the fact the jobless rate had dropped below 6 per cent, but this, he said, was "doubletalk."

Because of an influx of college students into the job market, the number of people seeking work actually rose 1.1 million over the previous month, he said.

"There there is the question of inflation," said Mansfield. "For too long inflation has continued at an unbreakable level. For too long the rosy and optimistic predictions have been converted into gloomy and pessimistic facts."

As a Republican I am pleased to have been invited to the Democratic party's kickoff of the 1972 presidential campaign.

But Mansfield told the committee he had no political motives. The blame for current economic problems lies equally with the White House and Congress, he said.

In a later exchange with Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, Mansfield, his voice rising, said all he wanted was that "once in a while we get together and do something for the common good."

Mansfield and Albert cited a long list of gloomy statistics, from a $23-billion federal deficit

to a 5.6-per-cent unemployment rate for June.

U.S. Nixes VC Offer; Seeks 'Clarification'

McCloskey Makes Issue Of Laos Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif., pointing to a former ambassador's testimony of validating bomb targets, has failed to draw a top State Department witness into discussing air strikes in Laos.

"I'm not an expert on Laos, and if you want to use TV time to belabor the State Department on that, do it with a witness who is qualified to talk about," Deputy Undersecretary of State William Macomber Jr. told McCloskey at a House hearing Wednesday.

The exchange took place shortly after the House killed 261 to 118, a McCloskey resolution that would have directed the secretary of state to supply the House with information on U.S. operations in Laos.

McCloskey, who has accused President Nixon of doubling the bombing in Laos, said William Sullivan, ex-ambassador to Laos, has told the Senate refugees subcommittee of validating targets and that some villages had been struck in error.

McCloskey quoted Sullivan as saying "it took all my time" to work on such U.S. bombing matters.

When McCloskey, questioning Macomber at a hearing on government document - secrecy practices, started asking whether U.S. ambassadors control air strikes, the State Department witness replied: "I'm not any expert on Laos, I'm not going to get into discussions on that."

"I don't happen to be an expert on what's going on in Laos, I came here to answer questions on classification," Macomber said. There are specialists, he added, who "will be glad to talk to you about that."

Pressed by McCloskey, Macomber fired back: "The State Department is not bombing villages in Northern Laos."

McCloskey asked: "Don't they validate all targets?"

When Macomber again said he was not an expert, Rep. Frank Horton, R-N.Y., broke in to say it "is out of order to question him on this if he is not prepared to testify."

Subversives Control Board Given Breath Of New Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell want to breathe new life into the Subversive Activities Control Board—an agency whose chairman admits it doesn't have enough work to keep busy.

By executive order, Nixon has given the SACB the job of identifying and listing organizations that seek violent overthrow of the government or violent interference with rights of others.

The list, formerly drawn up by the attorney general, supposedly lets federal agencies know what to look for when checking the background of prospective employees.

Membership in, affiliation or association with a group on the list "is a factor in determining whether the employment of a particular individual is inconsistent with the interest of national security," the Justice Department says.

Mitchell on Wednesday sent to Congress legislation to supplement the executive order and rename the SACB the "Federal Internal Security Board."

The list, commonly known as "the attorney general's list," was last updated in 1955 and the more - than - 250 groups included range from the "Abraham Lincoln Brigade" to the "Yugoslav Seamen's Club, Inc."

Assignment to the SACB of preparing the list was announced the day after its chairman, John W. Mahan, told a Senate subcommittee: "We do not have enough to fill our time."

The comment was made as Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La.,

questioned Mahan on what the taxpayers get for the $36,000 a year they pay each of the board's five members.

The answer prompted Ellender to remark, "I wonder if we should continue this board, quite frankly."

Both Bruce and South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam said a week-long analysis of the peace package did not show changes in the basic Communist demands. But Bruce said that if the proposals mean Hanoi and the Viet Cong are ready for serious negotiations, this is welcome.

Bruce said the demands for withdrawal of all U.S. and other non-Vietnamese forces by the end of the year "are so sweeping and categorical in nature that we cannot possibly accept our arbitrary determination that they must be agreed to by us without any discussion or negotiation upon them."

Bruce said the Communist "offer to agree on the modalities of safe withdrawal and release of prisoners after a date for withdrawal has been named is unclear and may be merely a variation of your previous statement that the parties 'will engage at once in discussion' on these questions, not necessarily committing you to the course of action implied at this point, as well as others you have presented, requires clarification."

Stassen Says Ike Rejected Asian Action

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harold Stassen, an adviser in the Eisenhower administration, says President Eisenhower decided by the early summer of 1954 never to intervene militarily in Indochina, despite the urging of his vice president, Richard M. Nixon, to do so.

According to Stassen, Nixon had urged Eisenhower during top level conferences in the spring of 1954 to send American ground troops into Indochina.

Nixon made headlines in April 1954 when he told an off-the-record meeting of editors that American forces should be used to save Indochina in what he said was the unlikely event that the French pulled out.

Stassen, director of the Mutual Security Administration and later the Foreign Operations Administration in 1953-55, attended weekly meetings of the National Security Council.

Early Retirement For Women Illegal

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman cannot be forced to retire at an earlier age than a man, the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled.

The unanimous decision Wednesday by a three-judge panel held that a retirement plan based on sex violates the 1964 Civil Rights Act and is "tantamount to discharge."

Waive Hearing In Slaying Case

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (AP) — A pair of 21-year-old men waived preliminary hearing today in connection with charges stemming from the death Sunday of a 19-year-old Mason County woman.

One of the men, Steven Swann of Point Pleasant has been charged with the beating-strangulation death of Sandra Faye Williams, killed in her parents' home early Sunday, police said.

William Whitlatch of Nelsonville, Ohio, was charged with possession and sale of illegal drugs. Sheriff's deputies said at the time of the arrest the drug charge was related to incidents surrounding Mis Williams' death. Drugs confiscated have been sent to state police laboratories in Charleston for analysis.

New Elements Bring Secret Meet Request

PARIS (AP) — The United States said today the Viet Cong proposal for a U.S. troop withdrawal by the end of the year in exchange for the release of war prisoners is unacceptable in its present form.

In their prepared speeches at the Paris peace talks, the Communist delegates made no direct reply to the U.S. stand. But the North Vietnamese said the plan offers an opportunity to the United States to get out of Vietnam with safety and honor.

The Viet Cong reiterated its position that the sooner U.S. forces withdraw, the sooner the prisoners of war can return to their families.

Ambassador David K.E. Bruce commented that the Viet Cong plan presented last Thursday has "some new elements" that the United States and South Vietnam want to explore with the Communists.

Bruce suggested that the 121st session of the talks next Thursday be restricted—that is mainly secret—"free from the glare of publicity and without the need to make public statements except to the degree we mutually agree upon."

Both Bruce and South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam said a week-long analysis of the peace package did not show changes in the basic Communist demands. But Bruce said that if the proposals mean Hanoi and the Viet Cong are ready for serious negotiations, this is welcome.

Demo Chieftains Open Fire On Nixon's Economic Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate-House Economics Committee has opened a midyear review of the nation's financial posture with a blast from Democrats at Nixon administration "doubletalk" and "pep talks" to boost the economy.

The committee planned to hear the administration side today, from Paul McCracken, chairman of the Presidents Council of Economic Advisors.

Wednesday's criticism, from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., prompted committee member Rep. Ben Blackburn of Georgia to say:

"As a Republican I am pleased to have been invited to the Democratic party's kickoff of the 1972 presidential campaign."

But Mansfield told the committee he had no political motives. The blame for current economic problems lies equally with the White House and Congress, he said.

In a later exchange with Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, Mansfield, the voice rising, said all he wanted was that "once in a while we get together and do something for the common good."

Mansfield and Albert cited a long list of gloomy statistics, from a $23-billion federal deficit

to a 5.6-per-cent unemployment rate for June.

Mansfield said the administration has played up the fact the jobless rate had dropped below 6 per cent, but this, he said, was "doubletalk."

Because of an influx of college students into the job market, the number of people seeking work actually rose 1.1 million over the previous month, he said.

"There there is the question of inflation," said Mansfield. "For too long inflation has continued at an unbreakable level. For too long the rosy and optimistic predictions have been converted into gloomy and pessimistic facts."

SIDEWALK Sales Day is scheduled in Roundtown July 16. Merchants are completing plans for the festive event. Police have planned their annual fishery and are busy laying in a supply of carp and mudcats.

THE Pickaway County Bar Assn. has gone on record as recommending air conditioning of both the Pickaway Common Pleas Court and Circleville Municipal Court Rooms. A $10,000 grant may be available from the federal government.

The bar is taking on a youthful look. New officers are Roger E. Bennington, president; Stephen S. Gussler, vice president; Charles W. Wilburn, treasurer; and Dennis Kitchen, secretary, all of whom are among the younger members of the organization.

Tax Judgment Said Useless

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Federal authorities have little hope of recovering a $17,115,797 tax judgement against the late Sydney L. Albert.

The judgement was signed Wednesday by Chief U.S. District Court Judge Frank J. Battisti, but Albert, an Akron financier who once claimed he controlled 200 corporations, reportedly was broke when he died Feb. 2.

A U.S. attorney said the judgement, which was not contested, was secured to protect the government's claim for back taxes in the event that any assets are found. The government had filed its tax suit against Albert last Dec. 22.

U.S. Nixes VC Offer; Seeks 'Clarification'

McCloskey Makes Issue Of Laos Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif., pointing to a former ambassador's testimony of validating bomb targets, has failed to draw a top State Department witness into discussing air strikes in Laos.

"I'm not an expert on Laos, and if you want to use TV time to belabor the State Department on that, do it with a witness who is qualified to talk about," Deputy Undersecretary of State William Macomber Jr. told McCloskey at a House hearing Wednesday.

The exchange took place shortly after the House killed 261 to 118, a McCloskey resolution that would have directed the secretary of state to supply the House with information on U.S. operations in Laos.

McCloskey, who has accused President Nixon of doubling the bombing in Laos, said William Sullivan, ex-ambassador to Laos, has told the Senate refugee subcommittee of validating targets and that some villages had been struck in error. McCloskey quoted Sullivan as saying "it took all my time" to work on such U.S. bombing matters.

When McCloskey, questioning Macomber at a hearing on government document — secrecy practices, started asking whether U.S. ambassadors control air strikes, the State Department witness replied: "I'm not any expert on Laos, I'm not going to get into discussions on that."

"I don't happen to be an expert on what's going on in Laos, I came here to answer questions on classification," Macomber said. There are specialists, he added, who "will be glad to talk to you about that."

Pressed by McCloskey, Macomber fired back: "The State Department is not bombing villages in Northern Laos."

McCloskey asked: "Don't they validate all targets?" When Macomber again said he was no expert, Rep. Frank Horton, R-N.Y., broke in to say it "is out of order to question him on this if he is not prepared to testify."

Jewel Theft Suspects Held

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI has arrested two New Jersey men in connection with the robbery of Italian actress Sophia Loren at gunpoint in her Manhattan apartment last Oct. 11.

Three gunmen entered the apartment and took $2,000 in cash, personal jewels which Miss Loren valued at $500,000 and jewelry she had borrowed from a New York dealer. A fourth man held four hotel employees at gunpoint while the robbery took place.

Miss Loren and her infant son, Carlo Ponti Jr., were not injured, but her secretary received a scalp wound when one of the robbers hit her with his weapon.

Part of the loot was found by two boys in West New York, N.J., several hours after the robbery and turned over to police.

The FBI identified the men arrested Wednesday as Vincent M. Morris, 36, of North Bergen and Joseph Fernandez, 41, of Jersey City. They were charged with interstate transportation of stolen jewelry and were held for arraignment.

Black Panthers Given Sentences

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Three Black Panthers have been sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory for wounding one policeman and shooting at other officers who tried to serve peace warrants at the East Side headquarters of the National Committee to Combat Fascism.

Curtis Johnson, 25; Richard Dowell, 22, and Fred Clark, 21, were sentenced Wednesday after being found guilty by a common Pleas Court jury of 10 whites and two blacks.

Subversives Control Board Given Breath Of New Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell want to breathe new life into the Subversive Activities Control Board—an agency whose chairman admits it doesn't have enough work to keep busy.

By executive order, Nixon has given the SACB the job of identifying and listing organizations that seek violent overthrow of the government or violent interference with rights of others.

The list, formerly drawn up by the attorney general, supposedly lets federal agencies know what to look for when checking the background of prospective employees.

Membership in, affiliation or association with a group on the list "is a factor in determining whether the employment of a particular individual is inconsistent with the interest of national security," the Justice Department says.

Mitchell on Wednesday sent to Congress legislation to supplement the executive order and rename the SACB the "Federal Internal Security Board."

The list, commonly known as "the attorney general's list," was last updated in 1955 and the more than 250 groups included range from the "Abraham Lincoln Brigade" to the "Yugoslav Seamen's Club, Inc."

Assignment to the SACB of preparing the list was announced the day after its chairman, John W. Mahan, told a Senate subcommittee: "We do not have enough to fill our time."

The comment was made as Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La.,

questioned Mahan on what the taxpayers get for the $36,000 a year they pay each of the board's five members.

The answer prompted Ellender to remark, "I wonder if we should continue this board, quite frankly."

Coed Loses Court Bid For Support

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state's highest court has ruled against a New York City coed who sought to force her father to resume financial aid he had withdrawn because of objections to her hippie lifestyle.

The father was identified only as a New York City attorney, the girl only as a former student at the University of Louisville.

The Court of Appeals ruled Wednesday that a father may legally cut off support to a child attending college if his reasonable wishes are disregarded.

Court documents said the father sent the girl to the University of Louisville with instructions to live in the student dormitory, hoping to protect her from hippie influence. After a few months she moved into an off-campus apartment.

The father then cut off support and ordered her to return to New York. She eventually came back but refused to live with her father and sued for support to finish college.

Judge John F. Scieppi said in the unanimous opinion:

"The obligations of parenthood, under natural and civil law, require of the child submission to reasonable restraints, and demands habits of propriety, obedience and conformity to domestic discipline."

Waive Hearing In Slaying Case

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (AP) — A pair of 21-year-old men waived preliminary hearing today in connection with charges stemming from the death Sunday of a 19-year-old Mason County woman.

One of the men, Steven Swann of Point Pleasant has been charged with the beating-strangulation death of Sandra Faye Williams, killed in her parents' home early Sunday, police said.

William Whitlatch of Nelsonville, Ohio, was charged with possession and sale of illegal drugs. Sheriff's deputies said at the time of the arrest the drug charge was related to incidents surrounding Mis Williams' death. Drugs confiscated have been sent to state police laboratories in Charleston for analysis.

New Elements Bring Secret Meet Request

PARIS (AP) — The United States said today the Viet Cong proposal for a U.S. troop withdrawal by the end of the year in exchange for the release of war prisoners is unacceptable in its present form.

In their prepared speeches at the Paris peace talks, the Communist delegates made no direct reply to the U.S. stand. But the North Vietnamese said the plan offers an opportunity to the United States to get out of Vietnam with safety and honor.

The Viet Cong reiterated its position that the sooner U.S. forces withdraw, the sooner the prisoners of war can return to their families.

Ambassador David K.E. Bruce commented that the Viet Cong plan presented last Thursday has "some new elements" that the United States and South Vietnam want to explore with the Communists.

Bruce suggested that the 121st session of the talks next Thursday be restricted—that is mainly secret—"free from the glare of publicity and without the need to make public statements except to the degree we mutually agree upon."

Both Bruce and South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam said a week-long analysis of the peace package did not show changes in the basic Communist demands. But Bruce said that if the proposals mean Hanoi and the Viet Cong are ready for serious negotiations, this is welcome.

Bruce said the demands for withdrawal of all U.S. and other non-Vietnamese forces by the end of the year "are so sweeping and categorical in nature that we cannot possibly accept our arbitrary determination that they must be agreed to by us without any discussion or negotiation upon them."

Bruce said the Communist "offer to 'agree on the modalities' of safe withdrawal and release of prisoners after a date for withdrawal has been named is unclear and may be merely a variation of your previous statement that the parties 'will engage at once in discussion' on these questions, not necessarily committing you to the course of action implied at this point, as well as others you have presented, requires clarification."

Stassen Says Ike Rejected Asian Action

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harold Stassen, an adviser in the Eisenhower administration, says President Eisenhower decided by the early summer of 1954 never to intervene militarily in Indochina, despite the urging of his vice president, Richard M. Nixon, to do so.

According to Stassen, Nixon had urged Eisenhower during top level conferences in the spring of 1954 to send American ground troops into Indochina.

Nixon made headlines in April 1954 when he told an off-the-record meeting of editors that American forces should be used to save Indochina in what he said was the unlikely event that the French pulled out. Stassen, director of the Mutual Security Administration and later the Foreign Operations Administration in 1953-55, attended weekly meetings of the National Security Council.

Early Retirement For Women Illegal

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman cannot be forced to retire at an earlier age than a man, the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled. The unanimous decision Wednesday by a three-judge panel held that a retirement plan based on sex violates the 1964 Civil Rights Act and is "tantamount to discharge."

was attacked in a consumer-oriented suit filed in U.S. District Court here Wednesday.

Nixon disclosed the plan last Jan. 11 and assured businessmen at the time they could count on getting the faster tax write-offs, the heart of the regulations, retroactive to the first of the year.

But the suit could delay the break even further. It comes at a time when businessmen are projecting plans to spend only 2.7 per cent more on plant and equipment in 1971 than they did a year ago.

The administration wants to accelerate this low level of investment to speed up the economic recovery, concluding that liberalized depreciation rules will induce industry to spend more for modernization, thus creating more jobs.

The suit could delay or invalidate the tax break. But an assistant Treasury official, John S. Nolan, deputy assistant secretary for tax policy, said businessmen have no reason to hold back on their investment and spending plans because of the suit.

After public hearings, the Treasury formally adopted the new rules June 22. Basically, they permit industry to calculate the expected life of plants and machinery at 20 per cent below the current level. The effect would be to increase industry's income-tax deductions.

The loss to the Treasury over a 10-year period has been officially estimated at $39 billion.

The suit said the regulations are unconstitutional because the Nixon administration bypassed Congress in adopting them.

Besides Ralph Nader and Common Cause, a nonpartisan lobby, others joining in the suit were the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, the United Automobile Workers, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and Ramon L. Posel of Jenkintown, Pa., a real estate agent.

19-Year-Old Is First To Register As Young Voter

Twenty-three "teens and twenties" have registered their names as eligible voters in Pickaway County's November election. This privilege was recently approved by the passage of legislation lowering the minimum voting age in Ohio to 18.

The first of these was Miss Beverly Lynn Vance, a 19-year-old who resides on E. Main St. She registered as a legal voter on July 2, two days after the signing of the Vote-18 bill in the Ohio House.

Deborah Pfeiffer, 423 Imperial Court, became the first 18-year-old registered voter in the county and Roger Lee Newton, Route 3, was the first in the 20 year group to sign up.

Pickaway County Board of Election is taking names of all Pickaway Countians who will be eighteen years of age by Nov. 2 this year. This means some 17-year-olds will be able to register now. The teens are not required to bring any birth record or evidence of their age, but, like other new registrants, are made to take an oath stating that they are legally qualified to vote under the new law.

ELECTION office workers will take new voters' names, addresses, birth dates and assign them to their voting precinct.

With the signing of the Vote-18 bill in Ohio, ratifying the 26th amendment to the United States Constitution, some legal problems were raised as to the new voters' rights. Secretary of State Ted Brown has issued a

Man Sentenced After Shootout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Paul Shreve, 31, was convicted of assault with intent to rob in Common Pleas Court Wednesday and sentenced to 1-15 years in the Ohio Penitentiary.

The charge stemmed from a shootout with state liquor agents outside a Columbus restaurant Aug. 15, 1970, after Shreve allegedly tried to rob one of the agents.

Last year, Shreve was acquitted of a first-degree murder charge in the shooting death of Susan Clark, 23, an Ohio State University coed.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Motorists who flee a police officer or disobey a traffic officer would be automatically subjected to a $500 fine and six-month jail term under a bill that cleared the Ohio Senate Wednesday.

A person less than 21 years of age, who is registered to vote, will be considered an elector. This means citizens aged 18, 19 and 20 will be permitted to be candidates for public office, be permitted to sign petitions and have their names included on the jury list. Pickaway County will be drawing over 600 names in August to provide jurors for the next three court terms, but no 18 year olds will be among them. Only a person who has voted in an election may have their name included.

Former "adult - youths" now have the full rights as well as the full responsibilities which it used to take a person 21 years to earn.

Democrats ...

Lancione, D-30 Bellaire, minority leader.

Neither was positive the bipartisan compromise could muster the required 50 votes for passage.

Kurfess and Lancione said their lieutenants were ironing out the details and they hoped for a floor showdown on the measure next week.

On paper, the GOP holds a 54-45 margin in the House, but a rebel group of about 20 members has vowed to oppose any tax but one that is county-collected and spent.

Some Democrats, too, are uneasy about the latest accommodation.

Others have said efforts will be made to amend the bill on the floor to add about $200 million to $7.8 billion 1971 - 73 budget passed by the House in May.

The biennium began July 1. Without a tax measure to meet state bills, the Legislature adopted a 31-day $297 million interim appropriations measure to continue state programs at levels established during the fiscal year. The temporary budget expires July 31 at midnight.

Fiscally-conservative Republicans led by Rep. Robert Netzel, R-7 Laura, are uncertain how they will attack the compromise legislation.

Rather than amend it on the floor of the House Netzel said, "We may take the fight over to the Senate instead."

"I don't know that we could accomplish anything on the floor,"

Netzel labeled the compromise a "sellout" to the governor.

His forces, holding out for a flat rate, county tax of one per cent on personal income and four per cent on corporation earnings over the existing franchise tax, have largely been responsible for the ten - week struggle within the majority party over the tax question.

Main points of disagreement still to be worked out in the compromise plan center on the direct use exemption for business on equipment and materials used in the production of goods.

Republicans have argued that elimination of the exemption would mean a double tax against business. Democrats say the exemption has represented a GOP concession to industry.

There were indication that some industry now under the direct use exemption will be excluded in the compromise package.

Kurfess admitted other areas of the compromise tax could be reopened for discussion when the bill is printed.

Much of that discussion will take place behind the closed doors of the Rules Committee where the tax plan is likely to be sent from the Ways and Means Committee.

Find Reason For Rehearing Of Hoffa Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Board of Parole says it has found "sufficient new and substantial information" to review on Aug. 20 former Teamster Union leader James R. Hoffa's parole request.

George J. Reed, chairman of the board, emphasized Wednesday the decision was only to speed a review originally scheduled in June 1972.

Hoffa, turned down for parole in January 1970 and again last March, moved in June for an earlier review after severing all ties with the union.

He has been in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison since March 1967, serving sentences totaling 13 years for jury tampering and mail fraud.

Reds 'Wipe Out' NATO Forces In Exercises

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Russians, in war games staged near the Arctic Circle, have simulated the destruction of a North Atlantic Treaty Organization task force and impressed U.S. naval observers in doing so, the Norfolk Ledger Star reports.

The Soviet exercise was accomplished "without detriment to current widespread Soviet naval operations in the Atlantic elsewhere," the newspaper said Wednesday, quoting "reliable Navy sources."

The exercise, monitored by American, British, Norwegian and Dutch aircraft, also simulated the elimination of NATO bases in Norway, it said.

By CLARK KINNAIRD

No. 81 In American international trade history 1871 has extra significance. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1871, the value of petroleum exports from the United States rose above the combined values of all beef, hams, bacon, lard and other pork products, cheese and some more commodities that sold abroad in growing quantities. The only items with export values exceeding petroleum products that year were "king cotton," gold, silver, and breadstuffs.

The U.S. was the world's No. 1 petroleum power less than 50 years after the "oil springs" that went to market in kegs or hollowed logs to be hawked as medicine. In 1871, it was being moved from Pennsylvania drilled-wells to refiners and users by water, railroad tank cars, and pipelines. The ocean-going tank ship was new. First of the latter, the steamer Charles, plied the Atlantic with about 800 tons (over 7,000 barrels) of oil in its iron tanks in contrast with 100,000-or-more ton behemoths that would become commonplace in the 1970s.

Railroads combined efforts in the Sixties in providing fast passage of tank cars east and west. The Pennsylvania Transportation Company, organized in 1871, brought about a merger of small tank lines into a system. While the tanker Charles was practically alone in 1871 in U.S.-Europe petroleum transport, numerous steamboats and towboats were hauling oil in the Allegheny River, to Titusville, the first refining center, and Pittsburgh—the forerunners of hundreds that were to ply the rivers of America a century later with gasoline, fuel oil and other refinery products.

[—] Sketch made in 1810 by J. Francis Walde of men skimming petroleum from spring-fed creek near Titusville, Pa. Existence of "rock oil" springs in upper New York had been noted by French as early as July 1627. It had been known as used (as pitch) in Near East since times of the Bible.

State Department Official Defends Diplomat Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP) — "If we can't keep our mouth shut, we don't have any chance at all to move toward peace," a top State Department official has told Congress in defending diplomatic privacy as a fact of international relations.

In private briefings for Congress, the policy is to give "the basic information on what's going on." Bu "there's no way to talk to the American people without others listening in," says Deputy Undersecretary of State William Macomber Jr.

Testifying before the House government information subcommittee, Macomber said Wednesday there is "a need to protect current negotiations—the best agreements open at the end were arrived at secretly."

Bugging Brings Heavy Fine

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — George Zunich, former Lorain City Chief Deputy Auditor, has pleaded guilty to eavesdropping on his employer, City Auditor Wanda Tully.

Zunich was fined $1,000 and courts costs and placed on two years probation Wednesday by Lorain County Common Pleas Judge LeRoy F. Kelly.

Zunich had been indicted last Friday by the Lorain County Grand Jury for placing a miniature transmitter in Mrs. Tully's office and for listening in on a conversation in her office.

Princess Anne Has Operation

LONDON (AP) — Princess Anne is reported in satisfactory condition after surgery for the removal of an inflamed ovarian cyst and doctors say the daughter of Queen Elizabeth should be out of the hospital in a week to 10 days.

A London specialist said after the operation Wednesday night that the operation would have no future effect on the ovary, a statement taken to mean that the 20-year-old princess' ability to bear children would not be impaired.

We continue to hold you responsible for the release of these men and for the provision of whatever information you have on all of our men captured and missing in action throughout Indochina."

Lam countered the Viet Cong plan with a call for immediate and unconditional release of all prisoners of war, establishment of a general cease-fire "and a timetable for the withdrawal of all the external forces," meaning North Vietnamese in South Vietnam as well as the Americans and other foreign troops fighting on Saigon's side.

Revamp Bureau Of Employment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Reorganization of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services, calling for creation of eight districts each with a manager responsible to the agency's central office was announced today by the bureau director, William E. Barnes.

Currently, except for offices in the eight major metropolitan areas of the state, local offices in each of the 88 counties operate separate entities. These offices will be retained but under supervision of the district manager.

In the major metropolitan areas an area manager supervises the operations of the offices in a specific city.

Ohio House Eyes Welfare - Work Legislation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—At the end of a long afternoon session Wednesday, the Ohio House set aside its rules to receive legislation requiring welfare recipients to work to retain their welfare eligibility.

Sponsored by Rep. Rodney Hughes, R-8 Bellefontaine, the bill would empower the director of the State Department of personnel to establish one or more job classifications for a new state work relief project.

Training programs would be ordered as a part of the state-sponsored project. Required work would vary from area to area.

Under the bill, all recipients of Aid to Dependent Children benefits and general relief will participate if they are:

—At least 16 years of age.

—Not unemployable because of advanced age, illness, or significant mental or physical handicaps.

A maximum work week could not exceed 40 hours.

State Welfare Director John Hanks called the Hughes measure a "futile approach to a complex problem." He said many of the work requirements and training proposals mentioned in the bill are already provided under state and federal laws.

Hughes described Hanks' reaction as an effort to "mislead the public into thinking all is well with the current welfare system."

"I've yet to talk to a county welfare director who thinks that the present program is working—and most think it is an appalling waste of taxpayer money," he said.

The House in April closed off further introduction of bills except by a majority vote of the members. The tally to accept the Hughes bill was 80-6.

In other floor action, the House passed 81-9 legislation to broaden the scope of current cooperative, regional water and sewer districts to include the building and operation of sewage and industrial waste treatment facilities.

In addition to extending a district's authority, the legislation would permit districts to:

—Force property owners to sewage treatment systems.

—Sue to recover delinquent payments of assessments, plus interest and a ten per cent penalty.

A district, once created, under present law may fix rates for its services, make assessments, levy taxes and issue bonds.

The new measure provides that a district may ask voters at regular elections to approve capital improvements and capital expenditure levies. A district now can seek levies only to cover current operating expenses.

The bill, which passed the Senate last month, returns there so that ten House amendments may be considered.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill to authorize the state department of personnel to establish an award system for public employees who make suggestions that save money or improve state service.

Three bills were passed in the Senate and sent to the House. They would:

—Exempt the sale of a motor vehicle from state sales and use taxes if it is sold to a non-resident outside Ohio.

—Provide that levies for mental retardation facilities be for a "continuing period" instead of a fixed time, in cases when such levies exceed the ten mill limit.

—Increase the maximum penalty for fleeing a policeman from the present $200 and 30 days in jail to $500 and six months in prison.

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Rep. Charles Whalen of Ohio and three other Republican congressmen will be in Detroit Friday to try to drum up popular support for a federal revenue-sharing program.

Gradford Mose of Massachusetts, Frank Horton of New York and Joseph McDade of Pennsylvania as congressional leaders "who have shown the greatest concern for the problems of urban areas and industrialized states."

Cool Buses Are Delayed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Flexible Co. of Loudonville will be penalized $8 a day, starting today, for late delivery of every one of the 100 air-conditioned buses being built for the Cleveland Transit System—but CTS would rather have the buses.
"We don't want these buses arriving here in September," CTS general counsel James E. Terry, said Wednesday. "That's no good to us at all."
CTS officials, led by general manager Robert T. Pollock, tried out one of the new coaches and were disappointed at what they saw.
Four of the buses have been completed, and performance tests on the new vehicles is not satisfactory. Problems such as underperformance in acceleration are expected to be solved quickly, but officials fear further production may be upset by a United Steel Workers contract with Flexible runs out July 15.
The federal government is paying half the $4 million cost of the new buses.

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati attorney's precaution against burglary paid off early Wednesday.
Because of two previous burglaries at his home in the Mount Adams section, Bruce McIntosh had a burglar alarm installed before he left for Europe.

Guardian Of Morals

Fifty years ago John S. Sumner was strictly page 1 news. "The dirty old man," they called him in the stories of the books he banned, not in Boston, but in New York.

For 37 years Mr. Sumner was the unofficial guardian of the public morals as the executive secretary of the Society for Suppression of Vice. Something became lewd or lascivious because Mr. Sumner said it was, and whatever he deemed lewd or lascivious stayed under the counter until the court freed it.

Mr. Sumner and his mentor, Anthony Comstock, are usually raised as horrible examples of how far censorship can go when it gets out of hand.

There are those who claim that the opposite extreme to Mr. Sumner's point of view is the rule today. He died at 94, happily unaware of the books available over the counter today.

Miami Beach Chosen

Selection of Miami Beach as the site for the 1972 Democratic National Convention is proof, if any were needed, that the great political shows are drawing nearer. The opening date is July 10.

With the Republicans likely to choose Miami Beach or San Diego, it is obvious that the big cities of the North have been dealt out because of the Democratic fiasco at Chicago in 1968. No national convention could function effectively surrounded by a near state of anarchy.

Political activity and speculation will increase as the crucial dates of the conventions approach. What has occurred to this point may be described as the minor preliminaries. But when sites and dates of the conventions have been set, the real work begins.

Quiet Fighter

By JEFFERY HART

I have been putting the finishing touches on a book about the career of Richard Nixon since 1960, and one thing that has struck me is the toughness, the sheer tenacity of Nixon as a fighter. He is not flamboyant, but, rather relentless in a quiet way. There has just crossed my desk a fascinating document indeed. I cannot specify its origin here, and all identifying marks on it have been inked out, but there is no doubt that it originated, as they say, at the highest level.

This document is 11 pages long and composed entirely of quotations. First comes Nixon's May 20 announcement of significant progress in the SALT talks, the Soviets for the first time linking the discussion of defensive and offensive weapons. "The governments of the United States and the Soviet Union . . . have agreed to concentrate this year on working out an agreement for the limitation of the deployment of anti-ballistic missile systems. They have also agreed that, together with concluding an agreement to limit ABMs, they will agree on certain measures with respect to the limitation of offensive strategic weapons."

The ten and a half pages that follow are made up of quotations from statements by leading Democrats — mostly those seeking the Presidency — predicting that the Administration's strategy of going ahead with the ABM and with MIRV would ruin the SALT talks. First come ten quotations from Sen. Muskie made during the last two years:

"It may be that the Safeguard proposal is intended as a blunt challenge to the Soviets to come to the bargaining table and negotiate over strategic weapons, or else the United States will heat up the arms race . . . I cannot believe that this kind of bluster would have any rational justification, and I must caution the Senate and the country that such diplomacy is the very essence of provocation." Again: "A vote for ABM would raise even greater obstacles to successful negotiations."

A year later, Muskie was still making a fool of himself: "To justify 'negotiating from strength' as a good negotiating tactic shows a lack of understanding of the negotiating process." And on and on for ten quotations.

Then the document turns to Teddy. In 1970: "The Administration apparently takes the position that we should go ahead with MIRV and Safeguard until the Russians propose a comprehensive arms control agreement. But this position makes no sense at all."

In the same year: "The proposed deployment of MIRV and Safeguard is a step toward disaster." A little later: "By insisting on immediate deployment of Safeguard and MIRV the Administration is undermining the SALT talks." For eight delicious quotations, there is Teddy with egg all over his face.

Then it is Hubert Humphrey's turn:

"The Administration's position has been that continued deployment of these weapons systems is essential for us to retain our bargaining chip at the SALT talks. I suggest that it is time to halt the arms race now, and that a freeze, such as the one I proposed, would in fact enhance our negotiating position by making clear our intentions to the Russians and demanding that they exercise comparable self-restraint." And on through statement after statement to the same effect by McGovern, Birch Bayh, Fulbright, Church, Hughes, McCarthy, Stevenson III, and others.

The chilling reflection here, from the perspective of a Democratic strategist, arises not only from Nixon's stunning victory on this point over his potential opponents, and the ludicrous position he is able to put them in, but, much worse, (a) from the knowledge that, given the powers of the Presidency, he has the capacity to shape events in such a way that these Democrats are likely to enjoy a steady diet of their own words between now and November, 1972, and (b) the relentless thoroughness of the files from which those quotations were drawn. And the campaign is only beginning. Lots of luck, boys.

DOES ANYTHING work properly these days? A vacationist in Barbados picked up a beautiful shell, put it to his ear, only to hear, "Sorry! This seashell is temporarily out of order."

Remember Aimee Semple McPherson? Lately Thomas has just written a lively, and engrossing biography of this amazing lady who, from 1918 to 1943, was the most famous religious figure in the Golden West.

In Los Angeles, notes Thomas, Aimee gave her countless followers a mixture of Hollywood and holiness, substituting the "cheerfulness of the play room for the gloom of the morgue" and offering the lonely and empty, "angels, incense, and nonsense."

Her boisterous congregation responded unflinchingly to appeals to contribute "their houses, their automobiles, rings from their fingers, watches, and even gold teeth and bridgework from their mouths."

Aimee's funeral motorcade comprised over 600 cars, and twelve ministers carried her coffin to its grave in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I work in a hospital and, as part of a regular health checkup, I was given a tuberculin test. This was found to be positive. Because of this, I had both of my teenage children tested. They were negative.

I am completely confused by this and wonder if I can transmit the disease to them.

Mrs. B. R., N. C.

Dear Mrs. T.: Positive and negative tuberculin tests can be confusing and worrisome unless their meaning is thoroughly understood. The fact that you are tuberculin positive does not mean that you have tuberculosis. In fact most adults past the age of 40 probably have positive skin reactions in the complete absence of any evidence of tuberculosis.

Diseases, over many years, tend to change in character. There was a time at the turn of the century when almost every child past the age of five would have a positive tuberculin reaction. Today negative tests occur in a vast percentage of children, teenagers and young adults. The answer may lie in what is known as childhood bovine or milk tuberculosis that was a common and mild type of tuberculosis. This caused the positive tuberculin skin reactions.

You and your children and others members of your immediate family should have X-rays of the chest and a complete physical examination to be sure that there is no TB infection. Sputum studies which are part of the examination will give you greater assurance that you have no communicable disease. Your own doctor will further substantiate the fact that you are not doing yourself or your children an injustice and that you are not exposing them to any illness. If all findings are normal, you must forget about "positive" skin reactions and not live in terror about a non-existent condition.

I must incidentally add that, contrary to common belief, tuberculosis is a disease which has not been eradicated. Even in privileged countries, many new cases are discovered each year.

The National Tuberculosis Association fulfills a vital need in its educational campaign, urging regular X-rays of the chest in order to flush from hiding potential victims of tuberculosis.

Fortunately, modern drugs, antibiotics and sulfa, are remarkably effective in the control and cure of even active tuberculosis. Some of these drugs are even given for a long period of time to young people with positive tuberculin tests to prevent any possibility of an outcropping of TB.

There is a great deal of concentrated scientific research all over the world to find the perfect vaccine for the prevention of TB. I say "perfect" because the BCG type now in use in some countries is not fully accepted as the ideal method of preventing or controlling tuberculosis.

A California clergyman plans to live in a tent atop 14,000-foot Mount Shasta for a year as an anti-war protest. That's quite a tall order, no matter which way you look at it.

By rocking 79 hours without sleep an Alabama housewife won a rocking chair contest. By, we assume, a comfortable margin.

Siberian miners recently found a 10-pound gold nugget, Moscow reports. We always thought Siberia had only one kind of mine — salt.

Sydney, Australia, has just staged its second annual race for bathtubs powered by outboard motors. Now, that's our idea of a good, clean sport.

A good foot exercise is to curl one's toes, according to a medical column. But not, naturally, around a bar rail.

On reading about that Chicago kid who got his arm stuck in a gumball machine, requiring the efforts of a firehouse crew with a crowbar to free him, Zadok Dunkopf says that's going to a lot of trouble of a penny ante game.

NEW YORK (AP) — Evidence of lagging enthusiasm among ordinary Americans comes from various compass points today: Retail sales are down, consumers are "buying off" to lower priced goods, resorts are less than full. The savings rate remains higher than normal and the use of credit lower than average, suggesting a conservative if not wary view of economic prospects.

There is no doubt about the causes of reduced spending, which are listed in the government's "Survey of Current Business" as "growing concern over inflation, unemployment and the general state of the economy."

Such an explanation is understandable. But does it apply to the stock market too, or are small investors getting out of the market for other reasons?

For nearly a year now, odd-lot sales—meaning transactions of less than 100 shares—have been consistently higher than purchases. Week after week the selling has gone on, even when the market was rising.

The standard explanation has been that the little guys are selling shares to buy mutual funds. And the statistics seemed to verify this. Mutual fund purchases were way up.

Now that interpretation is suspect. At the time the small investor began selling in earnest his redemptions of mutual fund shares also began to rise and threaten to overtake purchases.

In May it happened. For the first time in mutual fund history, sales exceeded purchases, and by $121.5 million. Investors cashed in $428.2 million of fund shares. They bought $306.7 million.

The industry was shocked, although it had an idea that a day of reckoning was approaching. The entire market, in fact, was shocked by the news and still is mulling over the meaning.

The question for stock market watchers to answer now is this: Are small investors turning conservative for the same reasons that they remain reluctant buyers of other goods and services? Or are other factors involved?

A survey might supply an instructive answer. For the time being, the suspicion exists that those "other factors" are there. The small investor is different today—better informed and more critical.

He has listened to years of publicity and promotions about funds and stocks and he detects a wide gap between promise and payoff.

He also has seen how tawdry are some of the practices in the marketplace. And he has also observed that, with institutions doing 60 and 70 per cent of the trading, he can get trampled.

The 1960s were years of tremendous growth for both the market and mutual funds. Those days may have disappeared.

Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus of the Environmental Protection Agency has issued a final notice cancelling the registration of the herbicide amitrole for use on croplands because of evidence that it may cause tumors in experimental animals.

Amitrole has been used since 1948 on non-croplands and in the production of crops such as: apples, pears, grainfields, corn, alfalfa, clover, legumes, pastures, peas, soybeans and grapes.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount recently announced plans for establishing a minimum of 39 new air taxi routes during July to improve mail delivery services.

More than 7½ million letters will be carried daily by the new service. The new routes are designed principally to improve airmail service, but will also carry large volumes of first-class mail.

Columbus is an integral distribution city on six routes of the new delivery system.

The House passed two measures designed to improve the quality and quantity of manpower in the health care. The Comprehensive Health Manpower Training Act of 1971 authorizes a federal financing program designed to alleviate critical shortages in such areas as Doctors of Medicine and Osteopathy, dentists, optometrists, pharmacists and veterinarians. The bill continues those programs which have proven to be effective and provides new authority to increase the numbers trained, alleviate geographical maldistribution and broaden the opportunity for all sections of society to obtain adequate health care.

The second measure continues for three years the nurse training provisions of the Public Health Services Act with important modifications for increasing the supply and improving the distribution of critically needed nursing personnel. The bill provides for construction of facilities, grants for new nursing schools, training for teachers and nursing students' loans of $2,500 per year. The nursing scholarship program has also expanded and the maximum per student was increased to $2,000 per year.

Monday through Wednesday the House considered funding bills. The first measures passed provide funds for the Treasury Department, the new U.S. Postal Service, the Executive Office of the President and related independent agencies. The Department of Interior appropriation bill was approved after agreeing to a floor amendment that forbids funds for payment to public relations firms for promotional campaigns among coal miners. Appropriations were also voted for the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the National aeronautics and Space Administration, the National Science Foundation, Veterans Administration and other independent executive agencies. An amendment was adopted to provide additional monies for the Veterans Administration to handle the increasing drug problems posed by veterans returning from Vietnam. As a member of the Veterans' Affairs Committee, I strongly endorsed this amendment.

After a bill has passed both the House and Senate there are usually differences between the two versions that must be resolved before it can become law. This function is performed by a House-Senate Conference composed of selected members from each body. After a compromise is reached, the measure is resubmitted to each chamber for final approval. Last week the House approved the following conference reports: Appropriations Authorization for the Maritime programs of the Commerce Department, Appropriation for the Office of Education and Appropriation for the Legislative Branch.

An amendment was adopted to provide additional monies for the Veterans Administration to handle the increasing drug problems posed by veterans returning from Vietnam. As a member of the Veterans' Affairs Committee, I strongly endorsed this amendment.

After a bill has passed both the House and Senate there are usually differences between the two versions that must be resolved before it can become law. This function is performed by a House-Senate Conference composed of selected members from each body. After a compromise is reached, the measure is resubmitted to each chamber for final approval. Last week the House approved the following conference reports: Appropriations Authorization for the Maritime Programs of the Commerce Department, Appropriation for the Office of Education and Appropriation for the Legislative Branch.

Social Security Answers

Q — I work and my wife took a full-time job for the first time this year. Should we now arrange for additional withholdings?

A — Yes, because of the mechanics of the withholding system, working couples may wind up owing a large amount of tax next year, unless they arrange for more withholding.

Both you and your wife should estimate the amounts of tax to be withheld from wages during all of 1971 and compute your 1971 tax liability from tables and schedules the IRS has provided your employers. If you find more withholding is necessary, you should claim fewer exemptions and, if also necessary, have additional dollar amounts withheld.

Q — I mailed my tax return April 15. When can I expect my refund?

A — Although it normally takes about 6 weeks to get a refund, returns filed during April usually take longer to process due to the heavy volume of returns received. If it has been more than ten weeks since you mailed your return, write the IRS service center where your return was filed. Be sure to give your name, current address, social security number and the approximate date your return was filed.

Q — I am visiting the United States for several months. Do you have a special publication giving U.S. tax information to foreign visitors?

A — IRS Publication 519, "United States Tax Guide for Aliens," will tell you such information as whether you have to file a Form 1040NR, "U.S. Nonresident Alien Income Tax Return," and how to obtain a "sailing permit" to certify that you have complied with U.S. tax laws when leaving the country. To obtain a free copy, send a post card to the Internal Revenue Office nearest you.

Q — I greatly increased the value of my home this spring by installing central air conditioning. Can I get a tax deduction for what I spent?

A — Although this expense cannot be deducted, it can be added to the cost basis of your property. This way, the cost of the air conditioning unit will be taken into account in the event you sell your home.

Q — What should I do about the estimated tax notice I received in the mail? I do not

Out-Of-State Deposits Liable For Tax, Rule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Interest on deposits in an out-of-state savings and loan firm amount to an investment and are subject to Ohio intangibles tax, the Ohio Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

The decision reversed a board of tax appeals ruling that said Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Winchester of Cincinnati did not have to pay tax on deposits in Pasadena Savings, a California firm.

The board ruled the deposits came under a section of Ohio law granting exemptions from tax for funds in federal banks. The Supreme Court said a federal savings and loan association paying more than four per cent interest on deposits did not come under the exemption.

A — These notices were mailed to all taxpayers who were sent the estimated tax form packages in February. If you did not have to file a declaration of estimated tax for 1971, and your tax situation is unchanged, ignore the reminder notice.

Job Applicants

Face State Tests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The superintendents of all mental institutions in Ohio have been asked their opinions on a recommendation that job applicants be tested by psychologists to protect patients from abuse.

The recommendation was made by a subcommittee of the Citizens Task Force for Mental Health and Retardation, which cited examples of physical and emotional abuse inflicted upon patients.

Dr. Kenneth Gaver, director, designate of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, forwarded the report to the superintendents for their comments by July 19.

Frank Stanton Rep. Staggers Rep. Hebert Spiro T. Agnew

A JOURNALISTIC MILESTONE may be in the making as these four get set for battle in Washington. CBS President Frank Stanton is up against a possible contempt of Congress citation for refusing to give up the film footage deleted from the documentary, "The Selling of the Pentagon." Riled up about it are Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., House Investigation Subcommittee chairman; Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-Ohio, House Armed Services Committee; and Vice President Agnew, a kind of resident television critic for the White House. Quite a number of House members are siding with CBS, claiming that electronic journalism should be protected by the First Amendment, and that "Electronic journalists should not more be required to produce out-takes (unused film) for inspection than print journalists should be required to produce their notebooks." Staggers wants film to decide if there was deception.

Social Security Payments $383,000 Monthly Here

Social security benefits were being paid to residents of Pickaway County at a rate of $383,000 a month at the close of 1970, Harry B. Bieber, social security district manager in Chillicothe, said today.

A benefit increase signed into law by President Nixon on March 17 raised the monthly rate of payment by 10 per cent for most of the 4,181 social security beneficiaries in Pickaway County, he added. A small number of beneficiaries over age 72 who are not receiving regular social security cash benefits received a 5 per cent increase.

The increased benefit amounts were made effective back to January 1, 1971. First

SALT Talk Results Sought

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Both Soviet and U.S. negotiators said they were seeking concrete results as they gathered in Helsinki for the start today of the fifth round of the strategic arms limitation talks.

Gerard Smith, chief negotiator for the United States, and Deputy Foreign Minister Valdimir Semenov, head of the Soviet delegation, met Wednesday evening on procedural matters in advance of the first full session at the Soviet Embassy.

The new round was given impetus by the breakthrough announced May 20 in which the two delegations agreed to work simultaneously on limiting the deployment of antiballistic missiles—ABMs—and measures to limit offensive nuclear weapons.

Since the SALT negotiations started in November 1969, the Soviet Union had insisted that agreement be reached first on ABMs while the United States wanted simultaneous agreement on both offensive and defensive weapons.

Now they have reached an understanding that "together with concluding an agreement to limit ABMs, they will agree on certain measures with respect to the limitation of offensive strategic weapons."

Semenov said on arrival that his delegation had received "clearcut guidelines to work constructively along these lines seeking to achieve concrete results."

Nice, the sun-blessed capital of the Riviera, was founded by the Greeks in the fourth century B.C., says National Geographic.

Official Says Toy Industry Should Police Itself

AP NEWSFEATURES
The toy industry is trying to police itself, but some manufacturers ignore danger signs that might lead to more stringent controls, says Richey Smith, youthful president of a family-founded company that manufactures toys. He was in New York to attend the toy market.

New Convention Center To Open In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After 31 years of talk about the need for a downtown convention center, the nation's third largest city finally gets one this week.

The eight-square-block, $41.8 million layout—whose central structure is a concrete rectangle painted light brown and off white—opens Saturday. City officials see it as a tourism bonanza.

They went ahead with the Los Angeles Convention-Exhibition Center despite objections that the downtown area lacks sufficient hotel rooms to support large conventions, and that the tax-financed operation is likely to lose money for years.

Others complained about the site in a rundown area at the southern edge of the downtown district. It was chosen despite strong support in City Council hearings for a location near the Civic Center in the heart of town, which is experiencing a high rise boom.

children, and when many toys are proved unsafe, it is a blow to the entire industry.

Certain regulations have been established by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, but in Smith's opinion, there are a lot of unfair - to - children practices not covered by such regulations.

"One thing that bugs me is the use of slow-motion techniques on television to appeal to children. For example, a 4-year-old child sees something difficult being done slowly, and he thinks he can do it. He presses his parents to buy the toy that really is beyond his capabilities. A tiny child cannot understand degrees of speed so, in addition to being unable to cope with the toy, the child may think of himself as a failure at play."

There are puzzle-type games also portrayed in slow motion on television. These make a game look easier to do than it is, and the game may seem to do more than it really does. This proves disillusioning to a youngster who cannot accomplish the same results, Smith explains.

Unsafe toys that have been removed from toy shelves include dolls, rubber squeeze toys and toy ovens. The bulbs on some ovens would get as hot as 400 degrees.

Smith would like to see all raw materials tested for color fastness, non-toxic qualities that do not irritate the skin or affect the eye sight. Edges should be rolled on steel toys to avoid cuts. Paints should be tested.

His criticism of some manufacturers is not motivated to boost sales of his own products which include basketballs and decorated rubber balls. Three toys made by his company, Sun Products, are among the top 10 toys on a "hit parade of toys" a sales barometer used by many members of the industry.

He has been associated with the company 10 years, he says, and because he is new in the toy industry, he doesn't want to make enemies, but he "doesn't want to see the toy industry go down the drain because some individuals have no regard for the facts."

"The average layman cannot tell whether some toys are safe merely by their appearance. Too many factors enter into the manufacture of a toy. The consumer must rely on the manufacturer to make toys that are fun and safe."

Dear Abby: She Tears Up Check, Loses Friend

DEAR ABBY: Why do people give money to recirculate a kindness? It spoils everything. Yesterday a friend gave me a check for $10 for a small kindness I showed her. (I picked up her mail and brought it to her at the hospital for three weeks.) Abby, I was terribly hurt and didn't want to accept money for something which I did out of the kindness of my heart, so I tore up the check in front of her.

She looked as though I had struck her and tears came to her eyes. I wanted to die. Was I wrong?

HURTING

DEAR HURTING: Yes. To destroy something publicly shows contempt for it. You should have either returned the check or destroyed it privately. People give money to reciprocate a kindness because either they are unable to shop for a gift or they don't know what to buy.

Your friend wanted to reward you for your kindness. You wanted no reward. Unfortunately, you misunderstood each other.

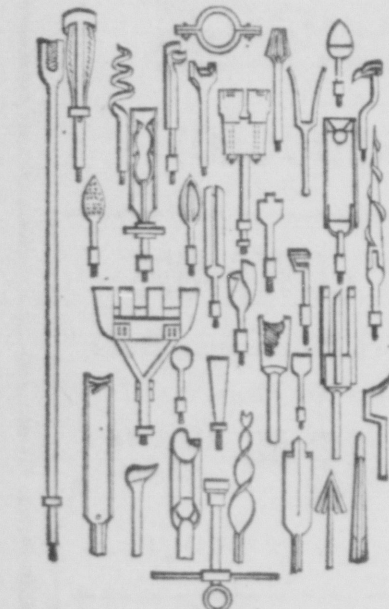

DEAR ABBY I need help. My husband is 91, and for the last two years Arnold has had no desire for sex, and I am only 73 and I still need a man.

Arnold is a jealous person and he follows me everywhere so there is no chance of even meeting anyone else. Is there something the doctor can give him to pep him up a little?

If that is hopeless, maybe

"BORE" suffers as an otherwise essentially descriptive word from usage in belittling of a dull, tiresome person. Boring tools are among the most valuable man has devised. These [] are a few found in the collections of specialists in bores and drills. They may be regarded as wholly modern.

However, archeologists in Egypt have found stoneworkers at Gizeh four thousand years ago had acquaintanceships with a surprising number of solid and tubular drills. Cuts through the hardest and softest materials were bored smoothly and uniform.

Stimulating reference for would-be collectors: A Museum of Early American Tools, by Eric Sloane (pub. by Wilfred Funk, Inc.), with graphic illustrations of augers, reamers, braces-and-bits, etc. (Dist. by King Features Syndicate)

the doctor can give me something to quiet me down. It is no good this way.

YOUNG AT HEART

DEAR YOUNG: It might be easier to quiet your desire than to rekindle Arnold's. Ask your doctor.

DEAR ABBY: Please spell out the responsibilities of a daughter in law when she comes to visit with her two children who are both under 3 years old. The children are not accustomed to being in a playpen in their own home, but I have one here for them because I don't want them roaming through the house.

Young mothers have been fed the idea that playpens thwart a child's ego and learning experiences. The youngsters are left to roam, tear magazines apart, climb on the tables, drag out the flatiron and topple the telephone.

Please tell us grandmothers how to avoid antagonizing the young mothers and yet preserve a semblance of order in our own homes.

WORKING GRANDMOTHER:

DEAR GRANDMOTHER: Since your daughter in law is anti-playpen, make it plan that she will have to keep her eye on the children while she visits you. And if she doesn't do it, it's into the playpen for the roamers, like it or not!

DEAR ABBY: When a guy is asked to be best man at a wedding, and it is decided that all the men in the wedding party should wear identical rented dinner jackets, who pays for the rental on the jackets?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: The men who wear them.

State Department Revamps Foreign Service System

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has announced a reorganization it says will lead the nation out of the country-store era of diplomacy and reform a foreign-service corps criticized for making conformity a virtue.

The main design of the program, according to Deputy Undersecretary of State William B. Macomber, is to centralize responsibility at the higher levels and turn policymaking into a systematic operation.

"This effort is needed at this time," Macomber said Tuesday. "Since World War II there has been enormous change in the scope . . . of diplomacy and it is tough for foreign-service officers to adjust."

A result of this adjustment difficulty, according to State Department officials, has been a gradual yielding of power over foreign policymaking to the White House and other agencies.

The reorganization amounts at the higher level to several changes in titles—including elevating Undersecretary of State John Irwin to deputy secretary—and a rearrangement of responsibilities among the assistant secretaries.

Changing the title of the department's No. 2 man, Macomber said, emphasizes that Irwin "is now a real chief of staff," the secretary's "alter ego" in day-to-day charge of American foreign policy in and out of the department.

Macomber said reform in the foreign-service-officer personnel policy may be the most important long-run result of the reorganization. The idea, he said, is to "get better people—more specialists under a better promotion system."

Under the old foreign-service-officer program—likened by some department officials to a guillotine approach—career diplomats were selected on the basis of a tough competitive examination stressing general knowledge.

This has led, officials say, to a situation in which other government experts no longer trust foreign-service officers to make a knowledgeable decision in specialized areas.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

She Tears Up Check, Loses Friend

DEAR ABBY: Why do people give money to reciprocate a kindness? It spoils everything.

Yesterday a friend gave me a check for $10 for a small kindness I showed her. (I picked up her mail and brought it to her at the hospital for three weeks.) Abby, I was terribly hurt and didn't want to accept money for something which I did out of the kindness of my heart, so I tore up the check in front of her.

She looked as though I had struck her and tears came to her eyes. I wanted to die. Was I wrong?

HURTING

DEAR HURTING: Yes. To destroy something publicly shows contempt for it. You should have either returned the check or destroyed it privately. People give money to reciprocate a kindness because either they are unable to shop for a gift or they don't know what to buy.

Your friend wanted to reward you for your kindness. You wanted no reward. Unfortunately, you misunderstood each other.

DEAR ABBY I need help. My husband is 91, and for the last two years Arnold has had no desire for sex, and I am only 73 and I still need a man.

Arnold is a jealous person and he follows me everywhere so there is no chance of even meeting anyone else. Is there something the doctor can give him to pep him up a little?

If that is hopeless, maybe the doctor can give me something to quiet me down. It is no good this way.

YOUNG AT HEART

DEAR YOUNG: It might be easier to quiet your desire than to rekindle Arnold's. Ask your doctor.

DEAR ABBY: Please spell out the responsibilities of a daughter in law when she comes to visit with her two children who are both under 3 years old. The children are not accustomed to being in a playpen in their own home, but I have one here for them because I don't want them roaming through the house.

Young mothers have been fed the idea that playpens thwart a child's ego and learning experiences. The youngsters are left to roam, tear magazines apart, climb on the tables, drag out the flatiron and topple the telephone.

Please tell us grandmothers how to avoid antagonizing the young mothers and yet preserve a semblance of order in our own homes.

WORKING GRANDMOTHER

DEAR GRANDMOTHER: Since your daughter in law is anti-playpen, make it plan that she will have to keep her eye on the children while she visits you. And if she doesn't do it, it's into the playpen for the roamers, like it or not!

DEAR ABBY: When a guy is asked to be best man at a wedding, and it is decided that all the men in the wedding party should wear identical rented dinner jackets, who pays for the rental on the jackets?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: The men who wear them.

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Books for independent readers are featured in this week's column. For instance, some children, once they are "hooked" on biographies will not read other kinds of books. Others prefer fantasy, or nature. There are many new books in the Library for these boys and girls.

Aaron Burr, a controversial figure in American history, is treated with fairness in a new book by William Wise. Here Burr is presented, not as the villain of this country's youth, but as a human being with many facets to his character. With honesty Wise explains the factors in Burr's childhood which made him the flashing intellectual, the dashing soldier, and the poor judge of character he became in later years.

"Audubon, the Man Who Painted Birds" throws a gentle and revealing light on one of America's greatest painters. Audubon, though born in the United States, was educated in France. But the land of his birth, especially its birds, claimed his allegiance. He was fortunate in managing a wife who understood and sympathized with his obsession to paint. This is a fine biography written by Norah Smaridge and illustrated by Charles Robinson.

Tim and Laurie found that it isn't necessary to own things in order to have them for your very own. "Hundreds and Hundreds of Strawberries" by Ethel Collier, illustrated by Honore Guilbeau shows that true happiness is found in giving, really giving your time and hard work.

"Sidney's Ghost" is a great story for the upper elementary grades. Sidney, crazy over horses, saves Sergeant O'Hara, a retired police horse, from the glue factory. In the process, he becomes a hero to both the fire and police departments of his home town. All in all, it's a very satisfactory story. It was written by Carl Iden and well illustrated by Paul Galdone.

Fantasy behind the beyond is the theme of a zany book by Peggy Clifford. Its offbeat humor will appeal to some boys and girls, others will never catch its sly fun. "The Gun and the Guru Go Behind the Beyond" take its main characters on a wild bicycle trip to a paradise of tidiness and order. Eric von Schmidt is the illustrator.

In "Little Apes" Gladys Conklin, well-known writer of junior nature books, tells about the four kinds of apes. An ape, she says, is a monkey without a tail with a larger body and a better brain. She draws short word sketches of chimpanzees, gorillas, gibbons, and orangutans. Joseph Cellini did the illustrations.

Man Quits Draft Board In Protest

CINCINNATI (AP) — Charging that a U.S. Supreme Court decision reversing a five-year sentence for heavyweight boxer Muhammad Ali for draft evasion was a "death knell" for Selective Service, said a Cincinnati board member who quit, suggesting the system be abolished.

Walter J. Abrams, 50, a 13-year member, in a letter dated July 4 to Curtis Tarr, Selective Service Director in Washington, wrote:

"I disagree wholeheartedly with this ruling. Violence is the man's business and it's a poor excuse for evading the draft.

"The Supreme Court has dealt the death knell to the Selective Service system and I therefore feel the system should be abolished."

Abrams, a World War II Marine and father of a Vietnam veteran, served on local boards from 1951 to 1959 and from 1966 to 1971.

Ali, formerly Cassius Clay, won the right to file as a conscientious objector as a result of the decision.

Parochial Aid Plan Studied By Ohio Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Parochial education groups want continued state aid for assistance and educational materials and services.

But they will not continue to urge salary supplement payments for teachers of secular subjects if the Legislature feels the program would violate guidelines set down recently by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Attorney David Young said Wednesday this is the consensus of the nonpublic school groups he represents, which include Roman Catholics, Jews and Protestants.

Young said he has advised the groups that parental grants and credits probably are the form of educational assistance most likely to meet new constitutional criteria established by the Supreme Court.

In March there were 4,212 foreign diplomats, 2,475 wives and 261 service staff entitled to claim diplomatic immunity in Britain.

House Plan For Local Aid To Look Unlike Nixon's

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee will develop legislation to help local governments, "but it won't look anything like President Nixon's revenue sharing," predicts Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

Mills discussed the outlook after the committee's first executive session on the $5-billion Nixon plan and congressional alternatives reportedly produced little beyond gloomy budget figures.

He indicated the eventual plan would be limited in time, would concentrate on the needs of cities and other local units, and would involve some congressional direction on use of funds made available.

He said it also might include authorization for the federal government to work out joint collection of federal and state income taxes. This could result in administrative savings for the states as well as encourage them to make greater use of income taxation.

Mills hinted one area in which local governments might be helped is in crime control. Reverting to a theme he emphasized Tuesday in a speech to the American Bar Association, Mills said: "I have no idea how much it would cost, but it seems as though something should be done, when businesses and individuals already are spending half a billion dollars more for private protection than the federal government budgets against crime."

Nixon's proposal, in contrast to Mills' rough outline, calls for a permanent allocation of part of individual tax collections, to be shared roughly equally between states and local governments, without strings on use of the funds.

Mills said, however, "I don't think the committee is convinced the states have exhausted their resources. The problem is with the cities and other subordinate units, which are not allowed by law the taxing powers the states have."

Other sources reported Mills told Treasury Undersecretary Charles E. Walker and other officials at the closed meeting he is "unalterably opposed to anything that can be called revenue sharing."

Arab-Israeli Clashes Hit Border Areas

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab guerrillas and Israeli forces clashed on two fronts today while police and troops searched Arab villages for terrorists who fired rockets into a town nine miles west of Tel Aviv, killing two persons and wounding 20 others.

A military spokesman said guerrillas fired bazookas from Syria at an Israeli force in the occupied Golan Heights. An Arab was killed and an Israeli soldier was wounded in the ensuing battle, he said.

Another Israeli patrol came under bazooka and light-arms fire near Zait, on the Lebanese border. The spokesman said the Israelis replied with artillery fire but no casualties were reported.

The rocket attack Wednesday night on Petah Tikvah, a community of 80,000, killed a 5-year-old girl and a woman. One rocket made a direct hit on a hospital for the chronically ill and three others ripped into a school and two houses.

All Arab villages within 50 miles of the city were put under curfew, and a number of suspects were picked up.

Reliable sources reported that the rocket launcher apparently used in the attack had been found and gave the location, but the military censor deleted the information from dispatches.

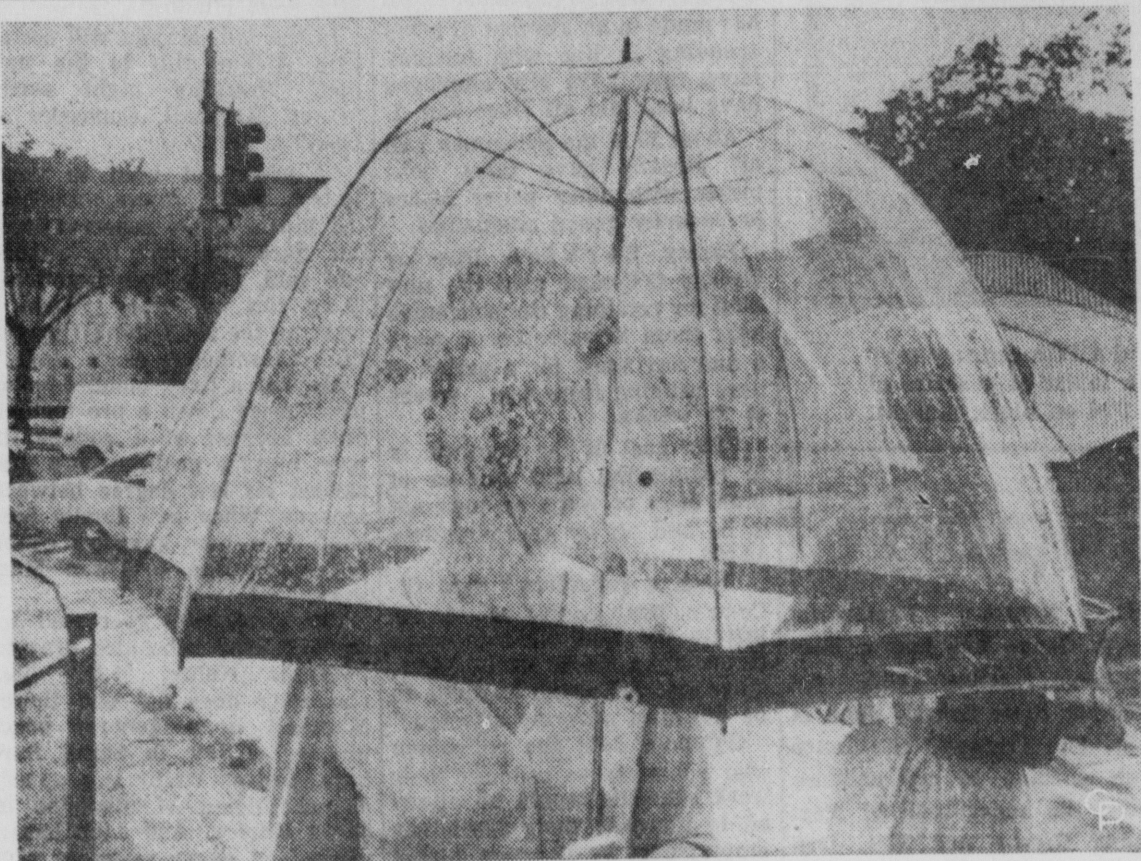

Plane Crash Kills 2 Kentucky Men

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two Kentucky men were killed in the fiery crash of a twin-engine plane at Toledo Express Airport early today.

The men were identified as J. Fugate, the pilot, and J. Pearce, co-pilot, both from Lexington.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the plane, owned by Buckeye Aviation of Cleveland, was on a mail charter flight from Columbus to Detroit with a stop at Toledo.

Long a magnet for painters, Morocco was appealing to the artist in Sir Winston Churchill.

IT'S A MAXI SEE-THROUGH—This young lady in Washington is using the latest rain aid, a dome-shaped transparent umbrella which completely covers shoulders.

Fantasy behind the beyond is the theme of a zany book by Peggy Clifford. Its offbeat humor will appeal to some boys and girls, others will never catch its sly fun. "The Gun and the Guru Go Behind the Beyond" take its main characters on a wild bicycle trip to a paradise of tidiness and order. Eric von Schmidt is the illustrator.

In "Little Apes" Gladys Conklin, well-known writer of junior nature books, tells about the four kinds of apes. An ape, she says, is a monkey without a tail with a larger body and a better brain. She draws short word sketches of chimpanzees, gorillas, gibbons, and orangutans. Joseph Celeni did the illustrations.

Man Quits Draft Board In Protest

CINCINNATI (AP) — Charging that a U.S. Supreme Court decision reversing a five-year sentence for heavyweight boxer Muhammad Ali for draft evasion was a "death knell" for Selective Service, said a Cincinnati board member who quit, suggesting the system be abolished.

Walter J. Abrams, 50, a 13-year member, in a letter dated July 4 to Curtis Tarr, Selective Service Director in Washington, wrote:

"I disagree wholeheartedly with this ruling. Violence is the man's business and it's a poor excuse for evading the draft."

"The Supreme Court has dealt the death knell to the Selective Service system and I therefore feel the system should be abolished."

Abrams, a World War II Marine and father of a Vietnam veteran, served on local boards from 1951 to 1959 and from 1966 to 1971.

Ali, formerly Cassius Clay, won the right to file as a conscientious objector as a result of the decision.

Parochial Aid Plan Studied By Ohio Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Parochial education groups want continued state aid for assistance and educational materials and services.

But they will not continue to urge salary supplement payments for teachers of secular subjects if the Legislature feels the program would violate guidelines set down recently by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Attorney David Young said Wednesday this is the consensus of the nonpublic school groups he represents, which include Roman Catholics, Jews and Protestants.

Young said he has advised the groups that parental grants and credits probably are the form of educational assistance most likely to meet new constitutional criteria established by the Supreme Court.

In March there were 4,212 foreign diplomats, 2,475 wives and 261 service staff entitled to claim diplomatic immunity in Britain.

House Plan For Local Aid To Look Unlike Nixon's

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee will develop legislation to help local governments, "but it won't look anything like President Nixon's revenue sharing," predicts Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

Mills discussed the outlook after the committee's first executive session on the $5-billion Nixon plan and congressional alternatives reportedly produced little beyond gloomy budget figures.

He indicated the eventual plan would be limited in time, would concentrate on the needs of cities and other local units, and would involve some congressional direction on use of funds made available.

He said it also might include authorization for the federal government to work out joint collection of federal and state income taxes. This could result in administrative savings for the states as well as encourage them to make greater use of income taxation.

Mills hinted one area in which local governments might be helped is in crime control. Reverting to a theme he emphasized Tuesday in a speech to the American Bar Association, Mills said: "I have no idea how much it would cost, but it seems as though something should be done, when businesses and individuals already are spending half a billion dollars more for private protection than the federal government budgets against crime."

Nixon's proposal, in contrast to Mills' rough outline, calls for a permanent allocation of part of individual tax collections, to be shared roughly equally between states and local governments, without strings on use of the funds.

Mills said, however, "I don't think the committee is convinced the states have exhausted their resources. The problem is with the cities and other subordinate units, which are not allowed by law the taxing powers the states have."

Other sources reported Mills told Treasury Undersecretary Charles E. Walker and other officials at the closed meeting he is "unalterably opposed to anything that can be called revenue sharing."

Arab-Israeli Clashes Hit Border Areas

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab guerrillas and Israeli forces clashed on two fronts today while police and troops searched Arab villages for terrorists who fired rockets into a town nine miles west of Tel Aviv, killing two persons and wounding 20 others.

A military spokesman said guerrillas fired bazookas from Syria at an Israeli force in the occupied Golan Heights. An Arab was killed and an Israeli soldier was wounded in the ensuing battle, he said.

Another Israeli patrol came under bazooka and light-arms fire near Zait, on the Lebanese border. The spokesman said the Israelis replied with artillery fire but no casualties were reported.

The rocket attack Wednesday night on Petah Tikvah, a community of 80,000, killed a 5-year-old girl and a woman. One rocket made a direct hit on a hospital for the chronically ill and three others ripped into a school and two houses.

All Arab villages within 50 miles of the city were put under curfew, and a number of suspects were picked up.

Reliable sources reported that the rocket launcher apparently used in the attack had been found and gave the location, but the military censor deleted the information from dispatches.

Plane Crash Kills 2 Kentucky Men

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two Kentucky men were killed in the fiery crash of a twin-engine plane at Toledo Express Airport early today.

The men were identified as J. Fugate, the pilot, and J. Pearce, co-pilot, both from Lexington.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the plane, owned by Buckeye Aviation of Cleveland, was on a mail charter flight from Columbus to Detroit with a stop at Toledo.

Long a magnet for painters, Morocco was appealing to the artist in Sir Winston Churchill.

Push Cuts In Police Work Time

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland policemen will be asked to work a four-day week to enable the city to return to the force as soon as possible 193 policemen laid off at mid-night Wednesday.

The layoffs are part of a series of austerity moves the city has made in an attempt to bring spending in line with income. More than 1,725 city employees have been laid off since Jan. 1.

About 50 of the policemen laid off already have taken jobs with other police forces or security guard companies.

Safety Service Director George O'Connor said the new plan for retaining the policemen asks them to volunteer to work a four-day week for a period of time ranging from five weeks to 25 weeks.

"The goal of the program is to reduce the total number of man days of work by men not to be laid off by approximately 14,500."

"Such a reduction," said O'Connor, "will enable us to re-instate the laid off men on a three-day a week basis. Thus, those laid off would continue to be the most severely affected."

O'Connor said the policemen who volunteer to reduce their work schedule would be allowed to increase their secondary employment by 12 hours during each week they are on a shortened shift.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lee Majors, who's played almost exclusively in Westerns, says it's tough making the adjustment to contemporary young lawyer.

He was in "The Big Valley" series for four years and made his movie debut with Charlton Heston in "Will Penny." In the past season he was one of "The Men from Shiloh."

In the fall, Majors will costar with Arthur Hill in the new ABC Thursday night series "Owen Marshall, Counselor at Law."

"I can't get used to these suits," said Majors, touching the lapels of his conservatively cut, dark blue suit. He laughed and said, "I've been practicing tying ties all week. When I walk on the set I think I'm visiting on someone else's stage."

Majors, a dark blond 6-footer who turned down a pro football draft because of a college injury, plays a gridiron hero who earned his law degree between seasons. When he's finally benched by a bum knee his coach introduces him to Owen Marshall.

The show was cocreated by David Victor, who also created "Marcus Welby, M.D." The similarity does not end there. Marshall is a general practitioner of law in Santa Barbara, just as Welby is a general practitioner of medicine in Santa Monica. And each has a young and eager assistant who chafes at the bit.

Majors is not in the two-hour pilot movie, which will be shown on ABC a few days before the series premier in September. After the network put the show into the schedule he was offered the part, along with several other projects, by Universal Studios.

"I wanted to get into something contemporary," he said. "I've missed some good film parts because producers don't think of me."

He did play a lawyer in the movie "The Liberation of L. B. Jones," and suggests, "I guess somebody took a look at that and decided I could help 'Owen Marshall' a little bit."

After six years of mostly Westerns, Majors said it "feels different" to be on the set without the familiarity of saloons and bunkhouses.

"In a Western you have a habit of pushing your way through saloon doors," he said. "I had a scene where I had to go through the swinging doors of a police station and I almost pushed them open like I was going in for a shootout."

Sultry Weather Covers Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sultry summer weather held its grip today on much of the nation with only scattered thunderstorms in the South the Great Lake region and the southern Rockies providing some relief from the warm temperatures. The mercury topped 100 Wednesday in the arid Southwest, while a tropical air flow pushed a muggy combination of heat and humidity into the eastern half of the nation.

Ocean breezes cooled sections of the Northwest and some areas along the Pacific coast.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 41 at Lewiston, Mont., to 92 at Phoenix, Ariz., and Needles, Calif.

At least 28 states require that trailers towed by car or truck have two safety chains.

stocking while both were in the basement of the DeSoto Chemical Co. plant in suburban Des Plaines on Feb. 27, 1970.

The victim was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bolyard of Fremont, Ohio.

Smith is serving two consecutive sentences of 200 years each for the murders of two McHenry, Ill., women who disappeared in 1970 and whose bodies were found later in a lake and a creek. Both had been sexually molested.

Authorities said Smith also was sentenced last March to life imprisonment in the Arkansas State Penitentiary for a fourth rape-murder in which he pleaded guilty.

In addition, according to prosecutors, Smith is charged in South Carolina, Missouri, Germany, Vietnam and Korea with similar killings. He was in the Army from 1966 through 1969.

Smith pleaded guilty Nov. 8, 1970 to the slayings of Jean Ann Lingenfelter, 17, and Mrs. Jean Irene Bianchi, 27, both of Mc-

Henry, northwest of Chicago.

Miss Lingenfelter's body was discovered at a local beach May 27, 1970. She had been raped and strangled.

Mrs. Bianchi, a mother of two, was found raped, strangled and stabbed Jan. 27, 1970.

Smith, married and father of a son, was described by Asst. State's Atty. Gino DiVito as looking like "the boy next door."

Officials said Smith killed the three Illinois women on the 27th days of three different months. Officials said there was no explanation for the similarity in dates.

DiVito told Judge Fitzgerald Wednesday, "It is our ardent desire that this defendant never again see daylight."

It was also noted in the court record that Smith had been examined by three psychiatrists and was found to be legally sane prior to receiving the 100-year prison term last year.

Cleveland Beaches Remain Closed; Others Reopened

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland's four beaches will remain closed but the ban on the use of 13 other public beaches along Lake Erie has been lifted.

The Ohio Department of Health said Wednesday seven beaches in Lake County, five in Ashtabula County and one in Conneaut were being reopened immediately.

The beaches had been closed two weeks ago when a breakdown in Cleveland's Easterly Sewage Treatment plant caused 120 million gallons of raw sewage to be dumped into the lake each day.

The plant is expected to be back in full operation later this week.

Senate Steps Up Cancer Fight With New Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to step up the fight against cancer by creating a new agency reporting directly to the president, but House passage is questionable.

The proposed Cancer Agency, spending as much as $1 billion a year by 1976, would take over the work and personnel of the 34-year-old Cancer Institute of the National Institutes of Health.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., chairman of the health subcommittee which will conduct House hearings on the bill, says it might bring only a "cosmetic change" that could delay a cancer cure.

Although some senators voiced misgivings about the bill, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., was the only one voting against it Wednesday. The tally was 79 to 1.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the bill's chief sponsor, said "cancer is the No. 1 health concern of the American People" and that a bold new program is needed to conquer it.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., another sponsor, added: "The country finds the rate of killing from this dread disease unacceptable because it believes a final drive will do the job."

"It feels we are so close to a breakthrough that a concentrated, unified program will achieve the final breakthrough."

The Senate measure is a compromise between versions proposed by Kennedy and President Nixon.

Although technically within NIH, the new agency would have independent status and report directly to the president.

The present Cancer Institute's budget of $332 million includes a $100-million increase proposed by Nixon and approved by Congress.

Cleveland Beaches Remain Closed; Others Reopened

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland's four beaches will remain closed but the ban on the use of 13 other public beaches along Lake Erie has been lifted.

The Ohio Department of Health said Wednesday seven beaches in Lake County, five in Ashtabula County and one in Cuyahoga County were being reopened immediately.

The beaches had been closed two weeks ago when a breakdown in Cleveland's Easterly Sewage Treatment plant caused 120 million gallons of raw sewage to be dumped into the lake each day.

The plant is expected to be back in full operation later this week.

Senate Steps Up Cancer Fight With New Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to step up the fight against cancer by creating a new agency reporting directly to the president, but House passage is questionable.

The proposed Conquest of Cancer Agency, spending as much as $1 billion a year by 1976, would take over the work and personnel of the 34-year-old Cancer Institute of the National Institutes of Health.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., chairman of the health subcommittee which will conduct House hearings on the bill, says it might bring only a "cosmetic change" that could delay a cancer cure.

Although some senators voiced misgivings about the bill, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., was the only one voting against it Wednesday. The tally was 79 to 1.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the bill's chief sponsor, said "cancer is the No. 1 health concern of the American People" and that a bold new program is needed to conquer it.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., another sponsor, added: "The country finds the rate of killing from this dread disease unacceptable because it believes a final drive will do the job."

"It feels we are so close to a breakthrough that a concentrated, unified program will achieve the final breakthrough."

The Senate measure is a compromise between versions proposed by Kennedy and President Nixon.

Although technically within NIH, the new agency would have independent status and report directly to the president.

The present Cancer Institute's budget of $332 million includes a $100-million increase proposed by Nixon and approved by Congress.

Brad Willoughby Pitches

2nd No-Hitter In Mosquito

Barnhill's and Block's were winners in Mosquito league action Wednesday.

Circleville Mfg. ran over Hummel and Plum 15-0 with Brad Willoughby pitching his second no-hitter of the season.

Willoughby struck out 15, walked three and three grounded out in the 21 batters he faced.

Don Holbrook blasted a homer and a triple for Mfg. while Jerry Ogan let loose with a homerun and a double.

Willoughby smacked three doubles. Randy Hannigan and Rod Leist hit a pair of doubles. While Dave Neff hit a double to round off the hitting for the winners.

Pitching for Hummel and Plum was Jeff Rase giving up 15 hits, walking eight and striking out 12.

Barnhill's cleaned Block's 22-9 scoring in the first five innings.

Bob Brown and Dwight Oiler pitched the game for Barnhill's giving up seven hits, walking 11, and fanning nine.

Rod Bumgarner slugged a triple for the winners Rick Fisher hit a double and two singles, and Oiler cracked a couple singles.

Throwing off the mound for Block's were Mike Alkire, Brad Allen, and Mike Harrison giving up 15 hits, striking out six, and walking 22.

Doug Simms and Jeff Pauley hit triples and Smith had a double and a single.

Jack Nicklaus Still Confident In British Open

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Jack Nicklaus headed into the second round of the British Open golf championship today smiling ruefully but still speaking with confidence about his chances of picking up the ancient crown for the third time.

"If you can take bogey sixes on the last two holes and still be only two shots behind the leaders, then it can't be all bad," said Nicklaus, who won the title last year in a playoff against Doug Sanders.

"Frankly I don't want to discuss the greens. We all know what they're like. It's the golf course we came to play, so let's play it."

The greens at Royal Birkdale drew criticism earlier this week for being too wet and soft. By midday, footprints of golfers who played the course in the early morning have dried, causing bumpy spots on the putting surface.

Nicklaus shot a 71 in Wednesday's first round over the 7,080-yard, par 35-38-73 layout and found himself two shots behind the man who beat him in the playoff for the U.S. Open at Merion in Ardmore, Pa.—Lee Trevino.

Nicklaus and Trevino were bracketed as 4-1 joint favorites for the title involving most of the top names in golf.

Trevino, Howie Johnson of Palm Desert, Calif., who is playing in his first British Open at the age of 46, Britain's Tony Jacklin, winner of the U.S. and British Opens two years ago, and Argentina's Vicente Fernandez shared the lead with four-under-par 69s.

Flood Takes Court Case To The Top

WASHINGTON (AP) — Curt Flood, the controversial outfielder who sued baseball for $3.1 million, has asked the Supreme Court to invalidate the sport's reserve clause.

In a brief filed by his attorneys, Flood said organized baseball has violated the antitrust laws with its reserve system, which binds a player to one club for life unless he is traded or sold.

"It need no argument to demonstrate that organized baseball is now interstate commerce," said Flood's lawyers in argument against baseball's exemption from antitrust laws. They said the Supreme Court had ruled against other professional sports in that area.

"No reason exists why baseball should be treated differently," they said.

Flood was represented by Arthur J. Goldberg, former Supreme Court Justice and Ambassador to the United Nations, and Jay H. Topkis of New York City.

The 33-year-old Flood, now believed to be living in Spain, played baseball for 12 years with the St. Louis Cardinals and was considered one of the best outfielders in the business.

Of the 192 home runs hit out of Boston's Fenway Park last season the Washington Senators hit only two. They were hit by Aurelio Rodriguez and Del Unser.

Orioles Stop Washington, 4-0

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pat Dobson's winning streak has reached six games and where it will stop nobody knows. In fact, Dobson thinks it may never end.

After stopping Washington 4-0 with a four-hitter Wednesday night, the 29-year-old right-hander of the Baltimore Orioles was asked how many he should win in the second half of the season.

"All of them, the way I'm pitching," was the reply.

If Dobson wins his next start on Sunday, he'll join the Big Three of the Orioles' pitching staff—Dave McNally, Mike Cuellar and Jim Palmer—as double-figure winners at the All-Star break.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston blanked Cleveland 4-0 on Ray Culp's two-hitter but the Indians took the nightcap 4-3, the New York Yankees beat Detroit 5-3 in 11 innings, the Chicago White Sox nipped Oakland 2-1, Milwaukee trounced Kansas City 8-2 and California downed Minnesota 3-1.

The only trouble Dobson had with the Senators came in the

Marichal, Carlton Named As NL All-Star Pitchers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pitching comebacks by Juan Marichal of San Francisco and Steve Carlton of St. Louis have landed them on the National League squad for baseball's 1971 All-Star Game.

Marichal, 10-5 with the Giants and Carlton, 11-5 for the Cardinals, were among the eight pitchers named Wednesday by Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson, who will direct the National League against the American League All-Stars next Tuesday in Detroit.

Probably the most notable omission by Anderson is Los Angeles left-hander Al Downing, who has bounced back from oblivion in the American League to lead the Dodgers' staff in victories this season.

Marichal, the veteran right-hander of the Giants, was named to the All-Star team a ninth time. He was left off the team last year, when he struggled to a 12-10 record.

Wide Range Of Fishing Conditions Face Ohioans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A wide range of fishing conditions exists over Ohio, giving sportsmen chances of success ranging from good to excellent later on in the week.

The situation by areas:
LAKE ERIE — Good catches of walleye are being taken at Crib, Toussaint, Niaga, West and Gull Reefs on deep running lures, with late evening hours most productive. White bass fishing remains good at Crib and Toussaint Reef areas, although fishermen are still urged not to eat their catch taminated in this species.

Also in the Lake Erie area good catches of channel catfish are reported in various tributary streams including Toussaint and Portage and the Sandusky Bay catfish are being taken at Catawba, Marblehead and the rocky shorelines at the Bass Islands. Freshwater drum are being taken throughout the western basin of the lake, and perch fishing is fair in the inshore areas and from piers. Outlook—good to excellent.

CENTRAL OHIO — Walleye fishing is good in the upper portion of Hoover Reservoir when trolling near the bottom with nightcrawlers. At Indian Lake some largemouth bass are hitting artificials and catfish are biting on worms; some walleyes are being taken from the Old Indian Lake area while trolling with spinners. Some bass, catfish and bluegills are biting at Deer Creek Reservoir tailwaters.

NORTHWESTERN — A few northern pike are being taken in the Maumee River on Minnows and spinners below Independence Dam, and the river also is producing good catches of catfish and bullheads. At Clear Fork Lake muskies are hitting spoons and plugs near weed beds, and bass are being taken there on rubber nightcrawlers in weeds morning and evenings.

NORTHEASTERN — Muskies are being taken by trolling with artificials in Leesville Reservoir, where bass are also hitting after dark near brush and vegetation. At Deer Creek Reservoir a few muskies are being taken by trolling. Bass are hitting both mornings and evenings at Berlin Reservoir, and Charles Mill Reservoir is producing bass from around the stumps in the north end of the lake.

SOUTHEASTERN — Bass are biting on artificials, bluegills on worms and catfish on crayfish and worms at Seneca Lake. Bass are hitting surface lures after dark at Lake Logan. At Forked Run Lake bass are hitting artificials, crappies are biting on minnows and in the Scioto River in Ross and Pike counties, trotliners are doing well with catfish on nightcrawlers and carp on doughballs.

SOUTHWESTERN — Larger streams in the area are producing channel catfish and carp, and smallmouth bass, and rock bass are biting in all streams. At Rocky Fork Lake bluegills, channel catfish and some crappies are being taken, and bass are hitting soft crawls and nightcrawlers at Clark Lake. Fishermen are making good catches of bullheads and channel catfish at night using leeches, crayfish and shrimp at Lake St. Marys.

Cincinnati Reds Lose Again; Beaten By Pittsburgh, 9-3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The middle-aged woman leaving Three Rivers Stadium put it best when she turned to a friend and said, "Can you believe we're rubbing the Big Red Machine's nose in the dirt like this?"

The Pittsburgh Pirates had just handed the Cincinnati Reds, erstwhile "Big Red Machine," their sixth straight loss, 9-3.

The victory Wednesday night moved Pittsburgh, leader in the National League East, 6½ games ahead of slumping New York, which bowed 12-7 to Montreal for its seventh defeat in eight games.

But it also dropped the Reds, National League champions in 1970, to 13 games below .500 and deeper into next-to-last place in the West Division.

Reds Manager Sparky Anderson is as surprised as anybody by the turnabout of his team, which won 70 of its first 100 games in 1970 and earned the nickname "Big Red Machine."

"Those 70 victories last season were unreal," Anderson said. "But the record we've got now is just as unreal. I wouldn't have believed it this spring if somebody had told me this was going to happen."

The Pirate onslaught against Cincinnati started when they tagged losing pitcher Gary Nolan for five runs in the first inning, the key blow coming on Gene Alley's two-run, bases loaded single.

Reliever Jim Merritt came on in the second and held the Pirates scoreless until the seventh when they managed four more runs on five walks and two hits, including a two-run single by Manny Sanguillen.

Pirate pitcher Bob Johnson, 5-6, went the distance, allowing solo homers to Bernie Carbo in the second, Lee May in the sixth and May again in the ninth.

"I threw into May's wheelhouse," said Johnson. "They won't always hit those pitches, but he really waylaid the two he connected on."

The Reds, who lost 5-2 to Pittsburgh Tuesday, close out the three-game set tonight. Don Gullett will pitch for Cincinnati against rookie Bruce Kison.

The status of Reds catcher Johnny Bench is doubtful for the game. He left after the first inning Wednesday night after being struck on the hand by a foul tip. X-rays proved negative, but there was a bruise a team spokesman said.

Houston Astros Humiliate S.F. Giants, Win 18-4

By KENRAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie No, he won't. So Willie Mays was lifted for a pinch-hitter for the first time in his illustrious career with the San Francisco Giants.

Rookie Ed Goodson struck out for Mays—but it didn't matter because the back-peddaling Giants were enroute to an 18-4 humiliation by the Houston Astros Wednesday.

"You can't expect one man to carry you for 162 games," said San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox after lifting Mays in the fifth inning with the Giants trailing 12-3.

Mays, the Giants' best clutch hitter since coming up in 1951, had never left a regular season game for a pinch-hitter, according to a team spokesman.

San Francisco's 40-year-old wonder player, the National League's starting centerfielder in next Tuesday's All-Star game, had a single in two at-bats before leaving the game. After a hot start this season, Mays has slipped to a .288 batting average and has just five hits and one run batted in during the last 13 games.

Despite the loss, the Giants gained ground on runnerup Los Angeles in the National League West as the Dodgers dropped a two-night doubleheader, 6-5 and 4-3 to the Chicago Cubs. San Francisco, which has lost nine of its last 12 games, now leads Los Angeles by four games.

The Montreal Expo rocked the New York Mets 12-7; the Pittsburgh Pirates clouted the Cincinnati Reds 9-3; the Atlanta Braves stopped the Philadelphia Phillies 4-2 and the San Diego Padres turned back the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1 in the National League's other games.

While Mays made news by sitting out, the Astros made hay against the San Francisco pitching staff with a 10-run, fourth-inning explosion and a six-run sixth.

Cesar Cedeno singled and smacked a two-run double in the fourth and slugged a two-run double in the sixth as the Astros poked 17 hits. The run production established a club record and every Houston starter except pitcher Larry Dierker had at least one hit, one run scored and one run batted in.

Jim Hickman drove in four runs with a three-run homer and single 2nd Phil Regan provided ninth-inning relief help as Chicago beat Los Angeles in the first game. Hickman's bat helped build a 6-1 lead, but the Dodgers came back with a four-run ninth before Regan cut the rally short.

Billy Williams socked a two-run homer and reliever Oray Newman cut down a late Los Angeles uprising to give the Cubs their second-game victory.

Williams' shot in the fifth inning gave the Cubs a 4-0 lead and their eventual winning margin. Veteran Juan Pizarro, pitching in his first major league game this year, walked two men with two out in the eighth before Newman came on to preserve the southpaw's victory.

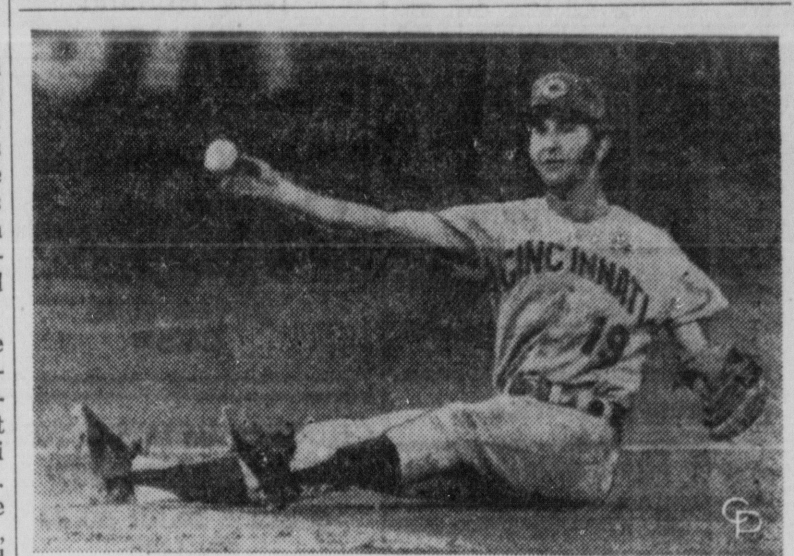

Pitcher Carl Morton drove in two runs with a single and a home run as Montreal handed tailspinning New York its eighth loss in eight games. The Mets, who dropped 6½ games behind front-running Pittsburgh in the East, contributed two errors, a wild pitch and a passed ball to Montreal's attack.

Gene Alley's two-run single highlighted a five-run first inning for Pittsburgh as the Pirates took their third straight game and saddled Cincinnati with its sixth consecutive loss. Roberto Clemente had a double and two singles for the Pirates, giving him 2,804 career hits and moving him into a tie with Zack Wheat for 10th place on the all-time National League list.

Rookie Earl Williams ripped two home runs and Ron Reed pitched a four-hitter for Atlanta. Williams delivered a score-tying solo shot in the second inning, then blasted a two-run homer in the fourth to break a 2-2 deadlock and put the Braves in front for good.

Clay Kirby fired a three-hit-ter and batterymate Fred Kendall put San Diego ahead to stay with his first major league homer as the Padres turned back St. Louis ace Bob Gibson, who lost his eighth game in 13 decisions.

A DROP IN THE BUCKET—The Reds' second baseman, Tommy Helms, shows there is no rest for the wicked (fielders) as he throws out a Philly runner while sitting down after making nice stop in Philadelphia game.

Blue Heads Pitching Staff For AL In All-Star Contest

BOSTON (AP) — Vida Blue, the Oakland Athletics' brilliant young southpaw, heads a nine-man pitching staff named by Baltimore manager Earl Weaver today to the American League All-Star team.

Weaver picked two of his aces, Mike Cuellar and Jim Palmer, and one pitcher each from seven other clubs for the 42nd All-Star Game with the National League next Tuesday in Detroit.

Leading the American League for the second consecutive year as manager of the champion Orioles, Weaver again ignored relief specialists, naming nine regular starters.

His failure to pick a couple of top relievers was blamed by many observers last year for the American League's eighth loss in a row, 5-4 in 12 innings.

Chosen with Blue, Cuellar and Palmer were Mickey Lolich of the Detroit Tigers, Sam McDowell of the Cleveland Indians, Sonny Siebert of the Boston Red Sox, Jim Perry of the Minnesota Twins, Andy Messersmith of the California Angels and Marty Pattin of the Milwaukee Brewers.

McDowell, however, has been sidelined with arm difficulties, and there were indications that Cleveland Manager Alvin Dark would ask Weaver to replace him.

Blue, Cuellar, Lolich and McDowell are left-handers with a combined record of 50 victories and 17 losses this season in games through Tuesday.

Palmer, Siebert, Perry, Messersmith and Pattin are right-handers with a 48-32 record.

Earning All-Star honors in his first full season with Oakland, the 21-year-old Blue seems well on the way to the charmed 30-victory mark with a fabulous 17-3 record.

Cuellar, who pitched in the All-Star Game for the National League while with Houston in 1967, was named to the AL squad for the second time. He has won 12 of 13 decisions for the Orioles this season.

Rich Hand Is Sent To Wichita Club

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Indians pitcher Rich Hand was sent down to Wichita in the American Association after being shelled for five hits and two runs in two innings Wednesday by the Boston Red Sox in the second game of a two-night doubleheader.

Manager Alvin Dark said Hand needed plenty of work and would have been unable to get it as the situation on the pitching staff stands now.

Dark said Hand would not be replaced on the roster until after the All-Star break. He indicated that Cleveland would survey its talent in the minors and bring someone up or acquire someone from another team.

Arizona will play an 11th football game in 1971. The Wildcats have added San Diego State for a Nov. 20 game to be played in San Diego's new 53,000-seat stadium.

Wide Range Of Fishing Conditions Face Ohioans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A wide range of fishing conditions exists over Ohio, giving sportsmen chances of success ranging from good to excellent later on in the week.

The situation by areas: LAKE ERIE — Good catches of walleye are being taken at Crib, Toussaint, Niaga, West and Gull Reefs on deep running lures, with late evening hours most productive. White bass fishing remains good at Crib and Toussaint Reef areas, although fishermen are still urged not to eat their catch tamination in this species.

Also in the Lake Erie area good catches of channel catfish are reported in various tributary streams including Toussaint and Portage and the Sandusky Bay catfish are being taken at Catawba, Marblehead and the rocky shorelines at the Bass Islands. Freshwater drum are being taken throughout the western basin of the lake, and perch fishing is fair in the inshore areas and from piers. Outlook—good to excellent.

CENTRAL OHIO — Walleye fishing is good in the upper portion of Hoover Reservoir when trolling near the bottom with nightcrawlers. At Indian Lake some largemouth bass are hitting artificials and catfish are biting on worms; some walleyes are being taken from the Old Indian Lake area while trolling with spinners. Some bass, catfish and bluegills are biting at Deer Creek Reservoir tailwaters.

NORTHWESTERN — A few northern pike are being taken in the Maumee River on Minnows and spinners below Independence Dam, and the river also is producing good catches of catfish and bluegills. At Clear Fork Lake muskies are hitting spoons and plugs near weed beds, and bass are being taken there on rubber nightcrawlers in weeds morning and evenings.

NORTHEASTERN — Muskies are being taken by trolling with artificials in Leesville Reservoir, where bass are also hitting after dark near brush and vegetation. At Deer Creek Reservoir a few muskies are being taken by trolling. Bass are hitting both mornings and evenings at Berlin Reservoir, and Charles Mill Reservoir is producing bass from around the stumps in the north end of the lake.

SOUTHEASTERN — Bass are biting on artificials, bluegills on worms and catfish on crayfish and worms at Seneca Lake. Bass are hitting surface lures after dark at Lake Logan. At Forked Run Lake bass are hitting artificials, crappies are biting on minnows and in the Scioto River in Ross and Pike counties, trotliners are doing well with catfish on nightcrawlers and carp on doughballs.

SOUTHWESTERN — Larger streams in the area are producing channel catfish and carp, and smallmouth bass, and rock bass are biting in all streams. At Rocky Fork Lake bluegills, channel catfish and some crappies are being taken, and bass are hitting soft craws and nightcrawlers at Clark Lake. Fishermen are making good catches of bluegills and channel catfish at night using leeches, crayfish and shrimp at Lake St. Marys.

Cincinnati Reds Lose Again; Beaten By Pittsburgh, 9-3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The middle-aged woman leaving Three Rivers Stadium put it best when she turned to a friend and said, "Can you believe we're rubbing the Big Red Machine's nose in the dirt like this?"

The Pittsburgh Pirates had just handed the Cincinnati Reds, erstwhile "Big Red Machine," their sixth straight loss, 9-3. The victory Wednesday night moved Pittsburgh, leader in the National League East, 6½ games ahead of slumping New York, which bowed 12-7 to Montreal for its seventh defeat in eight games.

But it also dropped the Reds, National League champions in 1970, to 13 games below .500 and deeper into next-to-last place in the West Division.

Devine, Prothro Have Own Plans

By MIKE RATHET and WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — One of the alternatives Dan Devine could have selected when he met resistance from some members of the Green Bay Packers the first time he attempted to instill his ideas was "to go in a corner and cry."

But he didn't, and neither will Prothro, the new coach of the Los Angeles Rams, for each pro rookie insists he will forge ahead with his own plans despite expected opposition.

Also discussed in this second of a three-part series are the Lombardi mystique and the case of Rams' receiver Lance Rentzel.

The questions and answers:

Rathet: You both talked about developing players and working with them on fundamentals. Have you found resistance or resentment when you walk up to an eight-year veteran as a rookie coach and say "we're going to do this now" and he doesn't think there's a need for it?

Prothro: I'll be surprised if we don't find some resistance. I think the older a person the less eager he is to change. But I think that's a coach's job—to get it done.

Rathet: Dan, have you found any resistance to your ideas?

Devine: We had some players down at Texas at Arlington for 2½ days and I found some players left there who didn't buy me. There were several things I could do—I could go in a corner and cry or I could be mad about it or I could trade them. But I'm going to give them a chance to buy me. And I should say I didn't buy some of them either. But I think it's going to take a little patience on my part and I'm not going to trade a lot of people because they don't buy my philosophy.

Rathet: In your situation, would the Lombardi mystique be hanging over everyone's head in Green Bay?

Devine: No doubt that's part of it for anyone coaching at Green Bay. And it's right. I was aware of that before I took the job. I would like to feel that the Lombardi era could be a traditional part of our team. But there are so many things different now than then, too—and this is what the older players have to realize, that it's a 26-team league now not a 12-team league. It's a completely different situation now than when Vince came in.

Grimsley: As I interpret it, you mean that you'd like to use Lombardi as a lever the way Notre Dame used Rockne, to take pride in its history?

Devine: Right. Exactly. I also should point out that Phil Bengtson (whom Devine succeeded at Green Bay) did one heck of a coaching job and I thought gave a lot to Green Bay football.

Rathet: Tom, you recently acquired a player who might be somewhat of a problem for you to handle in Lance Rentzel. Would you consider that he has in some way to get special treatment or in some way you have to "protect" him?

Prothro: I think the league has made that pretty clear and the courts—that he has to get some special treatment. I've never heard anybody say, "I've never even heard it rumored, that Lance Rentzel was any problem to a coach on the field. He has a problem personally that reflects badly on him and his teammates and the sport. I think everybody hopes he can work it out and there is every reason to believe he can. We all know the problem's there.

Rathet: Isn't it difficult for a coach to have to give one player special consideration?

Prothro: I'm not going to give him special consideration. Rathet: You did say he had a problem you had to deal with.

Prothro: Oh, the psychiatrist, not the coach.

Grimsley: Tommy, you're remaining in Los Angeles where you were successful as a college coach, but Dan you're really moving in to a new area among people who don't know you except by reputation. What's the difference?

Prothro: I think I'd rather get started with people and writers with whom I've established a pretty good rapport.

Devine: I've forgotten how much there is to starting all over again. I've forgotten how many new people are involved—it's been 13 years since I've made a move. I knew everybody. It's just like changing college jobs. You don't have all the alumni to meet but you got a guy downtown that does something for you, maybe runs the band, and you got another guy that helps with parking and another with the ushers.

Prothro: I was going to say, just along the line that Dan was talking about, there's an awful lot to football other than coaching the team. I'm still old-fashioned enough to believe that coaching the team is the most important thing.

VETERAN EMPLOYEE — Elder statesman Clay Vaughan of the Circleville General Electric Plant (left) presents a 35-year pin to Ed Grigg, GE plant manager.

Local GE Plant Manager Honored With 35-Year Pin

Ed Grigg, local GE Plant Manager, was presented with a 35 year pin at a luncheon given by Plant Staff in honor of the occasion.

Grigg, who came to Circleville to be the first Plant Manager, assisted in the building of the plant here 23 years ago.

The plant has tripled in size and far exceeded the projected employment due to additional lamp types being added and growth of the Fluorescent Lamp business. The plant ended June with record employment. Grigg gave a lot of the credit for the GE expansion to the fine employees here and the favorable industry climate here.

The office girls held a surprise party for the plant manager on the occasion with a large cake and punch.

Grigg in responding noted that in addition to fine employees, fine industrial climate that personally he and his wife, Edith, have found Circleville a wonderful place to live and raise their four sons.

Four of the original staff are still here: Clay Vaughan, Hal Spencer, Harry Diehl as well as Grigg.

Air Force Tries Officer For Protest

LAKENHEATH, England (AP) — The first American serviceman to be prosecuted in Britain for protesting the Vietnam war, Air Force Capt. Thomas Culver, goes before a court-martial today at this air base northeast of London.

Air Force sources expected the trial to last five or six days. Culver, a 32-year-old bachelor from Santa Barbara, Calif., was one of 168 U.S. servicemen who on May 31 delivered a petition to the American Embassy in London asking President Nixon to end U.S. military activity in Indochina.

Culver, a legal officer who served in Vietnam, was charged with violating Article 912 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice by taking part in a demonstration — against the rules for U.S. servicemen aboard — and soliciting others to take part.

The maximum sentence is a dishonorable discharge and two years imprisonment. Culver had been scheduled for regular discharge last month, but this was delayed.

Culver and his lawyer, Capt. Frank Wesson, contend that the embassy protest was not a demonstration. The protesters held no mass rally but instead assembled in Hyde Park and went to the embassy in small groups. Culver claims that this constituted a personal protest, with the men expressing their private views.

Woman Fined $150 For No License

Martelia Phillips Russell, 31, 500 Stella Ave., arrested on successive days by the Ohio State Highway Patrol and Circleville Police Department, for driving without a valid license, was fined a total of $150 and costs in Municipal Court today.

Judge Sterling Lamb also sentenced her to 30 days in the county jail and then suspended the sentence, placing her on probation for one year.

Linda Gail Barrows, 21, Ashville, forfeited a $34 bond for driving without a license.

Joseph Tucker, 64, 524 E. Franklin St., forfeited a $24 bond osted for improper passing.

Rick Prushing, 18, 504 E. Union St., forfeited a $19 bond for speeding 45 miles per hour in a 35 mile zone.

Charles Osborne, 35, Ashville, was fined $10 and costs for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Public Barred From Pollution Decisions

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government, preparing to issue thousands of permits for industrial waste discharge, has quietly barred the public from seeing whether those permit holders will pollute the nation's water.

"The public has no way of keeping us honest," a key official of the permit program said in an interview. "That's a chance they have to take."

Government officials and the industries will know how the permits stack up against water quality standards. But the public is being forced out of the game on a double play:

Guidelines commissioned by the Environmental Protection Agency set discharge standards in terms of industry's input of raw materials or its output of products. And the White House Office of Management and Budget has ordered these crucial input-output data be kept secret if that's the way an industry wants it.

Bert Printz, acting permit program director for EPA, conceded in an interview that the combination allows the public no way to see whether the conditions EPA writes into permits match its new antipollution guidelines.

"They (the public) can't tell if the permit corresponds to the guidelines, or is more stringent or less stringent than the guidelines," Printz said, "because they don't have access to the relating information."

The planned guideline are the missing link between 1965 federal-state standards governing the quality of water in rivers, streams and lakes, and the government's regulatory power over discharges into those waterways.

An 1899 law designed to protect navigation has been interpreted by the courts in recent years as banning direct industrial waste discharges into waterways without a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers.

That part of the act had not been enforced until President Nixon ordered the Corps last Dec. 23 to start requiring and issuing permits, and gave the Environmental Protection Agency veto power over permits for environmentally harmful discharges.

To qualify for a permit, an industry must comply with state water-quality standards, most of which call for "secondary waste treatment or its equivalent." The forthcoming guidelines are meant to answer the question: "What is the industrial equivalent of municipal 'secondary treatment'?"

EPA contracted for preparation of the guidelines by private firms, specifying that they "be stated in terms of pollutants produced with units of production or unit of raw material . . . —for example, pounds of suspended solids per ton of steel." Meanwhile, the Corps of Engineers and EPA were hastily drafting the application forms industry had to file by July 1.

Early in May, government officials held a public meeting with industry spokesmen to discuss what should be on the ap-

Pleads Innocent In Chillicothe Slaying

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Samuel Phillips, 38, of Waverly pleaded innocent in municipal court Wednesday to a first-degree murder charge in connection with the fatal shooting of Roger Roberts, 29, also of Waverly.

Roberts was shot four times in the chest Sunday at a motel along U. S. 23 south of here.

plication form. Then, in a closed discussion, government officials decided plant input and output figures should be considered business secret if that's how an applicant wants it.

In other words, the standard might be pounds of pollution per ton of steel but the public need not be told how many tons of steel a plant uses or produces.

J.J. Lankhorst, the Corps' assistant general counsel, who participated in those meetings, said: "The Office of Management and Budget insisted on this, that this type of information should be protected."

That office has statutory authority over contents of federal forms.

Lankhorst said he was unaware the EPA "effluent guidelines" were being based on these input-output figures.

EPA sources said the first guidelines are nearing publication to cover three major industries: petroleum refining, dairy product processing and fruit and vegetable canning and preserving. Guidelines on 15 other major industries are being prepared.
